Indian Train Crash Kills 52, Injures 106

BOMBAY, India (UPI)—One of the worst train crashes in India's history claimed at least 52 lives and injured 106 Monday. Officials ordered an immediate investigation of the collision of two suburban trains in driving rain on an automated section of track near here.

An estimated 2,500 passengers—most of them school children and workmen—were aboard the two trains when the collision occurred at a grade crossing nine miles from Bombay.

Love Rides Ocean

LONDON (CP) — A marriage proposal from a beautiful Canadian that floated across the Atlantic on its way to the United States has been accepted nearly a year after it was sent, says the British housewife who played the role of cupid.

Alan Ruffman, a student at Dalhousie University in Halifax, too shy to pop the question directly, put his proposal in a rum bottle and dropped it from a ship in Hudson Bay.

Eleven months later Elizabeth Singleton, wife of a Birmingham, England, architect, found it on the coast of Cornwall.

She sent it on to its destination — Linda Christiansen, a student at Columbia University in New York.

Monday Mrs. Singleton got letters from Alan and Linda saying they are going to be married.

"How wonderful to find people so romantic," she said. "It has been very exciting playing cupid."

Linda wrote: "I had the surprise of my life when I read your letter and Alan's proposal. I wired to say yes and flew 500 miles to join him."

Alan wrote: "I was studying the effects of earthquakes during tests on board ship when I dropped the message overboard on June 26, 1965."

"I told Linda I tossed a bottle into the sea last summer. But I kept the message to myself."

Killer Storm Slams Colony

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A big relief effort was mounted Monday after a weekend of floods and landslides in this British colony claimed at least 44 lives.

Broken families scrambled in the mud and rocks for some sign of the dozens of missing in the worst natural catastrophe to hit the colony in years.

Swollen torrents bursting from their valley beds by torrential rains have buried and battered the frail shanties that house many of Hong Kong's densely-packed 4,000,000 people.

MORE RAIN

A woman returned to her family's hillside hut to find only a heap of slimy rock. Firemen later dug out her husband's body, but her children were gone.

It still was raining Monday, with forecasts predicting more to come. Soil and rock loosened by the weekend downpour were poised for new landslides.

City life was chaotic, with streets deep in mud and cars piled together. Electricity, water and gas supplies were running out in some areas and several major road and rail links were cut.

STAY INSIDE

People were warned to stay indoors and schools and many offices were closed. The city hall fronting the harbor was flooded.

Vegetable prices soared as blocked routes and crop damage cut supplies.

'I Am Guilty of Nothing' BITTER FULTON LETTER CONDEMNS JUDGE

All Proposals But One

Concessions Won By Ferry Workers

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

B.C. ferry workers Monday won numerous concessions about a summer shift schedule dispute, when the provincial cabinet accepted all but one of the proposals brought in by a special labor-management committee.

However, the 1966 schedule which sparked the dispute—12 days on and three days off—will remain unchanged, as recommended earlier by the Civil Service Commission.

A ferry spokesman said the cabinet decision means that up to 44 more people will be hired as stewards and cooks' help on the two main routes between Vancouver Island and the B.C. Mainland.

Approved By Cabinet

The agreement was reached during a series of bargaining sessions and approved by a cabinet sub-committee before receiving executive approval. It will be submitted to crews at meetings today, Wednesday and Thursday.

It provides that: Permanent personnel who stay through the summer schedule are to receive a 10-per-cent bonus of their basic wage for the summer, on the last payday in September.

The winter schedule is to be revised so that the workers will have five days on and two days off instead of 10 days on and four days off, as previously provided.

Wages Shared

An additional steward and cook's helper are to be hired for each shift on the two big runs between the Island and the Mainland.

Also, if a ferry sails short-handed in any department, the wages of the missing people are to be paid pro rata to the other members of that department.

Not given formal cabinet approval was a clause saying recognition should be granted for an organization which would represent the ferry workers in future negotiations.

Already Provided

Attorney-General Bonner, chairman of the cabinet sub-committee, said this was already provided for in the Civil Service Act.

"It is further noted that item 9, being a recommendation outside this committee's terms of reference is, nevertheless, a matter provided for in the Civil Service Act. It is accordingly received for such operation as it may have under statute."

Although cabinet agreed to pay a 10-per-cent bonus, the ferry workers will still receive a period of 21 days off during the winter season to compensate for the imbalance in the summer shift schedule, as agreed earlier.

"We're happy to have brought about such a radical change in our conditions," Norman Thornber, one of the employees' two representatives, said Monday night. "Our prime purpose was a solution, not a strike. I think this is a hell of a good solution."

IWA Negotiations Come to Halt

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) announced Monday that negotiations with coast forest companies have "ended" and no further talks are expected.

The union, bargaining for its 26,000 coast members, said industrial inquiry commissioner Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz would continue his efforts, however.

"Proposals for settlement of the dispute as prepared by the commissioner will be submitted to a membership referendum vote by secret ballot at the earliest possible date," the IWA said in a brief announcement.

It pledged, however, that despite strike notices already served on the companies there would be no strike before the judge submits his recommendations.

The IWA announced Saturday that it had served 68-hour strike notice on the companies. Sunday night Mr. Justice Nemetz said he was making "reasonable progress" in his talks with both sides.

The dispute involves wages. The union wants a 50-cent hourly increase on the present basic of $2.36. The company has sought a contract that would effectively outlaw wildcat strikes.

Dock Agreement Won by Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiators for Quebec's 4,250 striking longshoremen and their employers reached agreement late Monday on a two-year contract involving a wage increase of 80 cents per hour.

The dockworkers, whose walkout has crippled shipping on the St. Lawrence River since May 9, also won a guarantee that work gangs will not be reduced for the duration of the contract.

The agreement was announced by Prime Minister Pearson at 11:14 p.m. PDT after he mediated the labor dispute in late night talks lasting 3½ hours.

Negotiators on both sides agreed to recommend ratification and they expressed confidence that this will be done.

OTTAWA BUREAU

OTTAWA — The Munster time bomb exploded a second time as former justice minister E. Davie Fulton disclosed his refusal to appear before Mr. Justice Spence to answer allegations the judge apparently intends to make in his final report.

Mr. Fulton's letter to the judge, and an accompanying statement, constitute the most devastating attack ever delivered by a senior privy councillor against a member of the supreme court.

Mr. Justice Spence promised witnesses at the sex and security hearings he would notify them in advance if he intended to criticize them in his report.

He wrote Mr. Fulton June 7, outlining all the allegations commission counsel John O'Brien and Liberal lawyer Jack Campbell made in their summations. He did not detail any specific findings against the former justice minister.

REPLY HOT

In a white-hot, 11-page reply, Mr. Fulton wrote:

"It is astounding that a judicial commissioner could have adopted such an extraordinarily non-judicial attitude and written such an extraordinarily non-judicial letter."

"It is equally astounding that any commissioner could have written a letter that so completely disregards the ruling which he himself made in the course of the proceedings before him."

"These two features of your letter, taken together with all that went on during the inquiry, have the result that nothing in the world could or should induce me to appear before you again as it is obvious that no useful purpose would be served thereby."

He then proceeded to document the "falsity" of the judge's position.

POLITICS CHANGED

He described the inquiry as "purely political and destructive — wrong in principle and a waste of time money and effort."

The heat of his reply dispelled all hope that the political passions aroused by the Munster affair have cooled off. The publication of the final report, probably later this month, is bound to touch off a political battle royal.

Monday Mr. Justice Spence said: "Gracious, I care not what anybody writes to a newspaper about me and I'm not going to comment. I'm not concerned a bit with what Mr. Fulton does in the press."

"Had he said he wanted a further hearing, one would have been arranged."

The judge wrote that if he had not received a reply from Mr. Fulton by Wednesday he would finish his report without further representations on behalf of the former justice minister.

BOO UNSAID

Mr. Justice Spence refused to confirm that he had written similar letters to Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, former Trade and Commerce Minister George Hees and former Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny.

A spokesman for Mr. Diefenbaker said: "I asked him (Diefenbaker) twice if he received a letter. He replied both times he had nothing to say. He wouldn't even say 'boo'. I don't know if he got one or not."

NEES IN DARK

Mr. Hees said he had not seen any letter from the judge.

"I was out West last week and then I was in Toronto getting a dental examination so I have not checked my mail."

"I presume that if my secretary got such a letter she would have told me about it. She hasn't mentioned it. So I just don't know," he said.

Boost For Roads

Premier Bennett announced Monday the government will increase its per capita grants to municipalities next year and earmark them for road-building purposes.

The next session of the legislature, he said, will increase the per capita grants, which total $24,000,000 this fiscal year, raise the homeowner grant again, and introduce the new home purchase grant, retroactive to April 1, 1966.

NOT RESTRICTED

The government will label the per capita grants as assistance toward road construction, although the municipalities may still continue to use the money for any purpose they desire, said the premier.

"This is not restricting them in any way. I want to make that clear. It is not telling them they have to spend it on the streets."

NO UPSET

He added the new classification of per capita grants will not upset in any way the provincial government's existing cost-sharing agreement for construction of arterial roads.

The government is giving "more emphasis to education, social welfare and health than we are to roads now. . . . They called on the blacktop government, but it's funny how soon they change their tune," the premier said.

Seamen's Strike Drags On

Left-Wing Wildcatters Lose Out in London

LONDON (AP)—A left-wing attempt to bring paralysis to Britain's choked ports met a setback Monday but the month-long seamen's strike dragged on with no sign of a break.

After some early confusion, London longshoremen rejected left-wing calls for a wildcat walkout in sympathy with the seamen and kept at work unloading food ships.

At Southampton, the main Atlantic terminal, some sailors from the giant Cunard liners Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary tried to organize a petition calling for a return to work. But a dockside meeting voted them down, 607 to 5.

SEMI SHIPS IDLE. The National Union of Seamen said the strike now had made idle 800 ships—one-quarter of the British merchant fleet. Many British ships are on long voyages. By international law they cannot be struck until they reach their home ports. The union is demanding a 40-hour work week without loss of pay in place of the 56 hours now worked by deep-sea men. Until last year they had a 44-hour week but the union signed it away in return for wage and leave benefits.

Shipowners and the government say to yield the 40-hour week immediately would amount to a wage increase far beyond the three-per-cent level established by national planners. They are ready to grant a 48-hour week now and a 40-hour week next year, an effect giving a nine-per-cent wage increase spread over two years.

COASTAL MEN. Coastal seamen, among the first to be tied up by the strike, work a 46-hour week. Shipowners say many are ready to return to work but fear retaliation from more militant union members.

Jack Dash, leader of a militant group on the London docks, called on longshoremen Monday to quit all work on British vessels, many of which are unloading or reloading even though they have no crews.

A meeting of about 1,000 longshoremen at first voted support unanimously to support Dash' call. Later, however, they went to work as usual.

HULL STOPPAGE. Longshoremen are members of the Transport and General Workers Union, which like all other British unions has declined to support the seamen.

Despite similar wildcat appeals, longshoremen were reported working normally at all major ports except Hull. There 3,000 men stopped work.

In the House of Commons, police clashed with 1,000 persons.

Police Cmdr. William Coesfeld said two Puerto Ricans were shot by Police Monday night when they threw bottles filled with gasoline.

General looting was taking place. Monday night's vandalism began after community leaders pleaded at a rally for peace.

Police Supt. O. W. Wilson said at a press conference Raymond Howard, one of the two policemen who answered the disturbance call which led to the outbreak of mass violence, was transferred to another district.

MOB GREW. The mob grew quickly after Howard's partner, patrolman Thomas Munyon, 25, shot Cruz Arcella, 20, in the leg. The policeman had been instructed to break up a fight. Munyon said he fired four shots at Arcella after the youth drew a pistol.

DOGS FACTOR. Rev. Donald Headley of the Roman Catholic Committee for the Spanish-Speaking People, told reporters he believes the use of police dogs was a major factor in swelling the agitation.

Forty-eight persons were arrested on various charges, including burglary, interfering with the police, damaging city property, disorderly conduct, assault or battery.

Moscow Visit Set For July. NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi will visit Moscow next month in response to a long-standing invitation from Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, a spokesman said Monday. Date of the visit has not been fixed.

had treatment years ago and do not realize that it now can be far more effective.

Dear Dr. Molner: Help! I do I find my daughter of 10 years. I have tried everything the druggist suggested. I have sterilized combs, brushes, curlers, everything used on the hair. I am still ill when I see units in her hair. — L.S.

Two suggestions: First, have your doctor prescribe specific treatment. Second, find out which of your daughter's playmates has mites. If you are as careful as you say, then it is likely that she is getting them from someone else.

URGENT NOTE TO H.E.K. A person with diabetes should avoid liquor. Your husband is fooling himself when he says there is no sugar in hard liquor. Although liquor doesn't have it in the same form as table sugar, it is high in calories.

NEW TREATMENT. Gout can be painlessly dissolving. It isn't uncommon, either. Perhaps 1,000,000 Americans have gout. For whatever reasons, too many sufferers still don't seem to be aware of the developments in new treatment in recent years. Possibly some

Megalomania

IF the manifesto of the new Quebec leader, premier-elect Daniel Johnson, as reflected in this space in last Sunday's Colonist, were not of serious disquiet and threatening the whole structure of Canadian nationhood—it could be regarded as a joke.

It is far from that, pledging his administration as it does to a course of action of profoundly disturbing connotation. Nothing short in fact of the wrecking of Confederation. And Prime Minister Pearson can be indicted as fostering the ambitions to which Mr. Johnson has given public expression.

It is Mr. Pearson who by his appointment of the F and B Commission which instead of sustaining unity has impelled disunity; by his repeated assertion that Quebec should have a status differing from all other provinces; by his statements that Confederation was a merger of two founding races; by his continuing weakness in deferring to that province in its many demands—who must bear some responsibility for the insatiable content of Mr. Johnson's manifesto.

For the latter the constitution, the BNA Act, has no meaning. In effect he would scrap it and shape the province he is about to lead into an independent state with all the powers it likes to assume.

Mr. Johnson's thesis is that French Canadians are a nation and so are entitled to the self-determination associated with such status, including the creation of Quebec as a national state, with a national territory and a national language having priority over others. He would call a constituent assembly in Quebec in order to fashion a new pact between two equal brotherly "nations"; and even before this "demand" that all direct federal taxes in Quebec be retained by the provinces.

His goals also include separate Quebec representation in various UN organizations, the handling of its own immigration, the unilateral abolition of its legislative council, and the assumption of the supreme prerogative in various other fields.

In short, he would have Quebec hold the powers of a sovereign state.

Patently this would mean the end of Canada as a viable federal nation, for if Quebec could have the self-determination that identifies an autonomous state then other provinces would want and feel a right to similar privileges. As a sovereign power Canada as such would be reduced to a balkanization that so enfeebled the central government it could not carry on as a national authority.

And the obsession of Quebec that it is a nation, not a province, is based on an illusion, a fallacy.

Quebec never has been a nation. Even in the years before Wolfe it was nothing more than a colony of France. When it entered Confederation it did so as a colonial province of Britain, one of three such which joined to create the Dominion of Canada. Nor by any reasoning can it be held that the single province of Quebec equates all the other nine provinces put together.

Mr. Johnson and indeed Quebec in general may affect to ignore history and what are the facts of Canadian development as a nation; that does not excuse them. In his grandiose ambitions he is infected with nothing less than political megalomania.

Cautious Rebuke

PRIME MINISTER Lester B. Pearson, speaking before the Federal Union Incorporated, an organization devoted to federation of Atlantic nations, warned of the danger of condemning France in its apparent attempt to reshape the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mr. Pearson, treading a diplomatic tightrope, did not say in so many words that the United States was to blame for the French decision to withdraw military support from NATO and to insist that American and Canadian forces based on French soil must vacate to submit to French authority. But he might just as well have done. His implication is quite clear.

Cautiously, he admitted that President de Gaulle probably went too far when he made his startling pronouncement of policy. But he was quick to offer excuses on behalf of the recalcitrant general.

Other nations besides France felt that continental Europe is now strong enough to be given its rightful share of control of the policies of NATO, the prime minister declared. With that plain statement most NATO allies will agree.

"France is not, has not been, and will not be satisfied with an Atlantic alliance or organization of independent states dominated by America," he said. Here, again, he will find himself in sympathetic company.

The trouble is that Mr. Pearson's dominant concern with his political allies in Quebec so frequently gives rise to the suspicion that even in discussion of high policy, such as the Canadian attitude to NATO, he is conscious of French-Canadian susceptibilities. Their sympathies might be expected to be with President de Gaulle. Therefore it would be political folly for the prime minister to risk offending them by too critical a stand against the French leader.

The London Telegraph expresses its doubts about the value of the Canadian prime minister's observations when it says:

"As for keeping French troops in Germany, the Germans insist that France must make arrangements with NATO for their role in a crisis. President de Gaulle is making no contribution at all to the settlement of this delicate matter. In this, as on the question of the future of a NATO home, he is being encouraged by the anxiety of certain members not to offend him. . . . This is not just a quarrel with General de Gaulle in which the Canadian prime minister, for instance, must be careful not to upset his French Canadians. . . ."

Thus something of the force of the prime minister's contribution to the NATO discussions is lost because our allies suspect a prejudice.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes, and ships, and sealing ice;

By TOM TAYLOR

FROM the fulcrum of the movement overseas, there comes word that the Boy Scouts are to adopt a new look. That shouldn't surprise, everybody seems bent on getting a new look so why not the Scouts.

Yours truly never was a Boy Scout so you must take this piece as idle chatter. Well, that's not entirely so. I was close to being one once. If my mind hasn't gone askew it reminds me that as a small boy when Baden-Powell's creation was born I did put my name down. But I joined the Boys Brigade instead.

In the B.B. one could play organized football, and since this was somewhat of a passion with yours truly, the prospect was a persuasive influence.

It is the Scout uniform and the name, that's to undergo a change. I gather. Intriguing in nature, too, to my vicarious interest in this world-wide organization.

The word "Boy" may be dropped from the title, for instance. I hope I'll be excused for wondering why. There's really nothing queer about being a boy; that's how nature ordained things for all Boy Scouts. Although I'm willing to concede a teen-ager is now something different from being just a boy.

He's more grown-up like and the Scout idea is to get away from "childish" things.

Like shorts, for instance, which in any case have been rather pre-empted by milady, not meaning the Girl Guides, in general. And long pants are doubtless more convenient than shorts for scrambling in the woods, et cetera.

I was thinking about the green berets which are recommended instead of the "Mountie" style hats, though. According to a chap I met in Britain a few years back these were already in use — and he could hardly contain his umbrage. He'd been a Commando in the last war, you see, and the idea of his famous wartime headgear adorning Boy Scouts was giving him apoplexy.

Maybe he has burst completely by this time.

A local Scout official says however that the round hat is archaic, and he should know about this where I don't even if Australian troops, neither boys nor child, wear them with no small gusto.

I was struck rather of a heap nevertheless when he said that if Boy Scouts want to wear their hair long — okay. It is rather handy to be able to tell boys from girls, although granted this becomes more difficult every day in our titillating society.

Especially may this be so also, if they take the "Girl" out of the name of Girl Guides. And I should suppose the Guides are no less anxious for a new image than the Scouts.

It is of particularly spice in addition to read that Boy Scouts are to be urged to take an interest in girls; whether this means all girls or just Girl Guides isn't quite clear, but anyway I'd have thought this advice to be redundant.

If one's eyes are any criterion no boy these days, from ten years up, seems to need any push in this direction.

This though will put the Scout motto — Be Prepared — to perhaps its best test.

Never mind; change or no change, come long pants and berets or no, nothing I fancy will daunt this fine organization. No matter their new look the Scouts will still be worthy boys — if I may continue to use that appellation.

Audience Hall

Pope Paul Approves

In two years an ultra-modern white concrete and glass building, designed by Pier Luigi Nervi, will rear up beside St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.

Pope Paul VI has commissioned Italy's leading architect to design a 20th century papal audience hall.

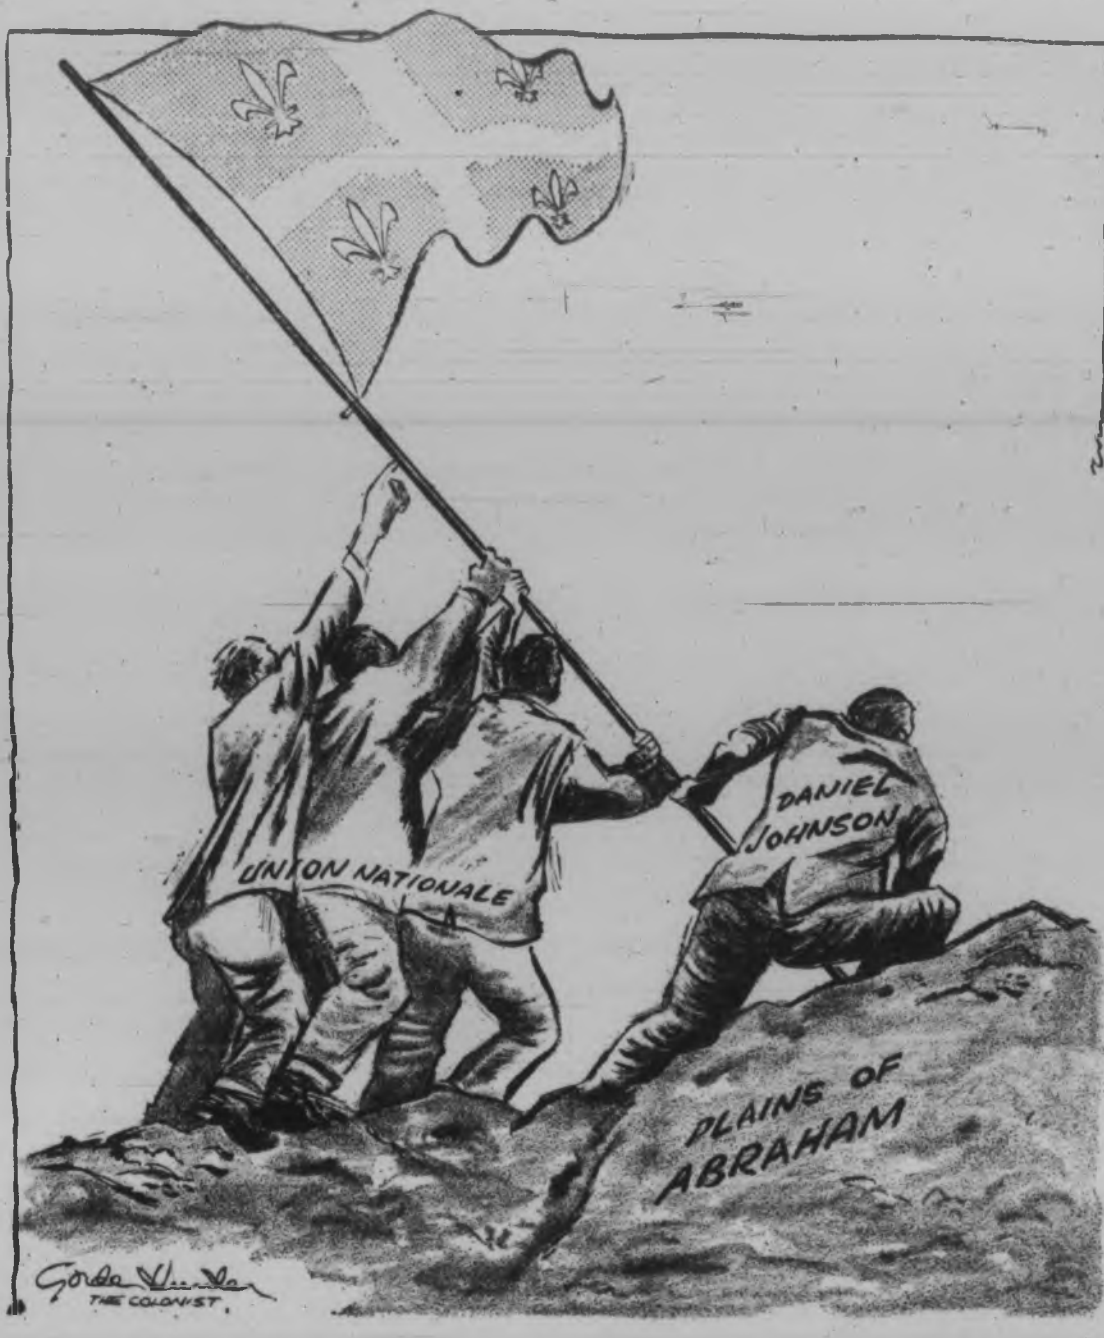

When it is finished the hall will seat 11,000 people with standing room for another 2,000 and space for 500 around the papal throne. The seats will be removable, making a total capacity of 24,000.

The decision to build this new hall was made quickly and quietly and the work has already begun—the foundations are now being laid—all of which is typical of Pope Paul.

The hall will be trapezoid-shaped and will be immediately behind, and have direct access to St. Peter's Square. It will be the place for mass gatherings, the Basilica for prayer, and the new hall for mass meetings with the Pope.

The ceiling of the new building will be transparent and will utilize, providing a light lighting effect, with the light gradually from the rear of the hall to the papal throne. The ceiling will be ribbed, spreading out like a fan from above the papal throne and creating a feeling of concentration.

Canada's Foreign Service Officers Lay Claim to Bargaining Rights

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonist Ottawa Bureau

THIS is a statement of fact. Not a matter of opinion. Just the facts. And the figures.

You form your own opinion. Marked for "immediate release," this press statement emerged the other day from the external affairs department.

"Mr. W. F. Bauer announced today the formation of the Professional Association of Foreign Service Officers (PAFSO). Mr. Bauer, who is president, said he has no intention of leaving the service. The association came into being earlier this year, following study and research by Canadian diplomats to determine how they could best participate in collective bargaining.

"The association proposes to apply for certification as the bargaining agent for the foreign service group. . . . In short, Canada's diplomats from ambassadors on down the striped pants line to senior officers grade one are forming a union. Like the truck drivers, the bricklayers, the plumbers. Well, how urgently do the foreign service officers require a union?

Has the federal government been giving them a hard time, payroll-wise? Are they underprivileged? You should hear the kidding they've been taking in the Commons where the MPs — even the New Democrats who ordinarily are the great advocates and allies of unions — are pulling their striped pants legs. Ah, but let's have the facts, you say. Never mind the snide opinions.

So okay, the facts: There are 5,209 on the external affairs staff.

And of these, 609 are foreign service officers, all 609 of them making better than an annual $10,000.

How much better and how many get what? There's one at $24,000. Nine at $22,000. Two at $20,000. Fourteen at $18,000. Forty-seven at $16,000. Thirty-nine at $14,000. Seventy at $12,000. (Any of these need a union to "best participate in collective bargaining.")

How about 113 at $14,000? Or 225 at $12,000? (Last year there were only 107 FSO rating $12,000.)

Even the 89 at $10,000? Those are just the salaries for external service officers.

But salaries aren't all of it in the diplomatic service. There are allowances paid in compensation for many things, including the supposed higher cost of living and even, in some cases, the "hardship" of living abroad in an embassy, chancery or a consulate where cigarettes, cigars, wines, beers, liquors and some other luxuries come tax-free, and there's no such thing as local sales, taxes, traffic or other fines, customs or excise duties and all those other financial hazards of more ordinary living with which the common taxpayer is so familiar.

Then there are travelling expenses. Just $3,485,000 worth of them. There may be more varieties of loot, but this is all that show up in the finance department's estimates of the life and times of external affairs.

Oh, the total payroll? Mark it down as $16,542,000. And if you add those allowances, $26,409,000.

Total cost of running the department — $150,608,000. Some 10 years ago it was $41,710,000.

What's it like to be a foreign service officer abroad — and 287 of the total 609 are posted around the world?

Well, to hear them talk in the embassies and chanceries, to them, asking why, for example, Canada needs ambassadorial representation in the Republic of Cameroon.

The diplomatic front in Cameroon cost the Canadian taxpayer $187,000 last year. This year the bill will be $200,000.

And you know what Canadian export sales to Cameroon totalled last year? They were worth $23,702.

The facts and figures — they're authentic, straight out of the government's own estimates — cause you to wonder? Take it up with your MP, why don't you?

But shucks, maybe they do need their union. Some meane-minded taxpayers have been sniping at them, asking why, for example, Canada needs ambassadorial representation in the Republic of Cameroon.

For Egypt

Seizure Of Suez Costly

By IRENE REESEN
from Cairo

TEN years after the nationalization of the Suez Canal Company, the canal offers a picture of success, offset by immediate problems and future uncertainties.

Traffic and revenue have increased steadily since the waterway was re-opened under Egyptian management in April 1957, six months after the end of the Suez "war."

Last year's revenue was £(F)185,792,000, from 20,289 vessels totalling 246,817,000 tons. In 1955, the year before nationalization, 14,466 vessels totalling 113,758,000 tons used the canal, yielding a revenue of £(F)132,335,000.

Official figures of earnings from 1957 to the end of 1965 are given as £(F)1,503,000,000 and in Port Said it is whispered that this is a considerable understatement. In these 10 years the canal has been widened and deepened a long its whole course, and now takes ships up to a draught of 38 feet.

At Port Said the capacity of the harbor has been increased by removing three of six islets from its waters, and work has begun to remove the other three. The number of mooring posts in the harbor has been increased from 37 to 43 and deep and shallow quays have been added to the port.

A new twin-span swing bridge has been erected at El Ferdan, to replace the one which stood in the way of widening projects. The new bridge is crossed by a railway, and can be opened in seven minutes by electrical devices.

At the time of nationalization only a quarter of the canal's pilots were Arabs, but today only 53 of its 220 pilots are foreigners.

Sources at Port Said and Ismailia reveal, however, that while transit operations are carried out smoothly, it is increasingly difficult to keep pace with more and larger vessels, and the accompanying wear and tear.

Shipowners have been pressing for larger vessels to be permitted to transit. Recently engineer M. A. H. Abd Mashour, the new chairman of the Canal Authority, agreed to increase the permitted length of transiting ships from 800 to 1,000 feet.

Giant tankers like the 106,000-ton British Admiral which used the canal recently, pay heavy toll in hard currency, but take their own toll of the canal by making violent waves which batter down its banks, driving sand to the bottom.

"It is possible that we have allowed the passage of ships larger than the canal can take," an engineer remarked at Ismailia recently, "but it is too late now—we cannot go back on our decision."

All along the canal, from Port Said on the Mediterranean to Suez on the Gulf, huge breaches and gaping wounds in the retaining walls show the strain under which the canal is operating today.

Sources at Ismailia blame this state of affairs on the fact that actual re-investment in the canal is not as high as the official claim of 20 per cent. Only 14 per cent of the revenue is reinvested in the canal and very little of that in foreign currency.

All transit dues must be handed over to the treasury and the greater part of the revenue is re-invested by the government in top priority projects, like the "High Dam" and land and industrial development. Loans totalling about $33,000,000 (sterling) from the World Bank, the United States and Kuwait, were used to carry out much of the work on the canals and improvement to the harbors of Port Said and Port Suez.

The canal's future role depends on how much improvement work the Egyptians are able or prepared to carry out to meet shipowners' and oil companies' demands for the passage of ever-larger ships.

In the next decade, if the canal is to continue to benefit from oil traffic, which accounts for about 75 per cent of its revenue, considerable widening and deepening will have to be carried out at an estimated cost of about £(F)100,000,000. The question is, how much wider and deeper will the channel have to become to yield profits, both to the Canal Authority and to shipowners in the future? At what point will it become more profitable for oil companies to carry out their plan to use 250,000-ton tankers on the Cape route? Opinions on the advantages of this plan are divided. Some oil companies consider that the new limit of 100,000 tons makes it more profitable to use the canal than to invest in giant tankers. But some foreign oil interests here claim that with transit charges at their present rate, it is an advantage to adopt the Cape route even for tankers of 100,000 tons.

After 10 years the battle for the canal is entering a new phase, which, for the sake of her economy, Egypt must win.

Seven Years of Horror

QUITO, Ecuador — Mariana Luna, 26, dark-eyed daughter of a South American landowner, described from her hospital bed her seven years of horror as slave wife of an Indian head-hunting tribesman.

Once beautiful but now worn and exhausted from her ordeal, she told of being kidnapped by Nangame, a house servant who had been brought from the head-shrinking Jivaro tribe by missionaries who sought to civilize him.

Not until Nangame took a second wife, who became jealous and informed missionaries, did her family or police know where Mariana was. She was rescued after a fierce battle.

Now she says she only wants to return to her father's home with her three sons, fathered by Nangame.

Important news for the Canadian flying public:

Air Canada will maintain services despite strike announced by sales employees

As one of this nation's major public utilities, Air Canada recognizes fully its obligations to the citizens it serves. Consequently, the airline will do everything possible to ensure continuation of all flights, despite the announced strike by the members of its Sales Employees' Association, scheduled for midnight Wednesday.

FLIGHT OPERATIONS CONTINUE

Supervisory staff and other Air Canada personnel have already joined forces to serve the public at every centre where the regular sales personnel may go on strike.

Flying operations of the airline will not be affected, though there may be some unavoidable delays or inconveniences in passenger handling on the ground. The transportation of mail and air cargo will continue as usual.

UNION TWICE REJECTS AGREEMENT

Air Canada has twice achieved agreement with the Sales Employees' Association's negotiators. The first agreement was reached shortly after expiration of the previous contract on Dec. 1, 1965, but was refused ratification by the membership.

A second agreement based on a unanimous recommendation by a conciliation board and endorsed by both the Company's and the Association's representatives, called for a wage increase totalling 15 per cent over 30 months, a $150 cash retroactive settlement and other tangible benefits. This, too, was apparently rejected by a majority of that portion of the membership which voted.

Even as late as Friday, June 3, the Company agreed to increase the retroactive benefits on a sliding scale, depending upon seniority, to a maximum of $250, in the interests of achieving a settlement—as this appeared to be a major point of contention.

Despite this attempt by the Company to meet the Association's demands, representatives of the employee group refused to negotiate further at that time.

In short, the Company has negotiated in good faith from the outset, and has made continuing efforts to explore every possible avenue in the hope of achieving a settlement. It is ready to continue discussions with the SEA at any time.

NOW, A STRIKE

The SEA represents 1,600 Air Canada employees within Canada, principally passenger agents at the airline's airport and city ticket offices and in telephone reservations offices. While anticipating some disruption in the efficient handling of passengers on the ground, Air Canada expects to be able to ensure that passengers and shippers receive the service to which they are entitled in the event of a walkout by these employees.

The Company sincerely regrets any inconvenience which may be caused by this threatened strike — the first in the airline's 29-year history — and trusts that the public will understand the circumstances.

Further newspaper and radio announcements will notify the public of arrangements made in each centre affected by the strike, to ensure the continuation of the best possible standards of service to all who wish to travel or ship by air.

Indians Perish In Floods, Scorching Heat

CALCUTTA (AP) — A heat wave with top temperatures of 120 degrees felled men, women and children by scores in eastern India Monday, while floods in the Brahmaputra River Valley in the northeast forced hundreds of thousands to flee their homes. Early-morning rains were feared to worsen the situation.

'Kill Us,' Say Banners

SAIGON (UPI) — Buddhist demonstrators today splashed gasoline on an American military jeep and a Vietnamese jeep and sent both vehicles up in flames after about 1,000 Buddhists swarmed through the streets of Saigon.

Riot police Monday fired tear gas and scattered 500 Buddhist monks and nuns attempting to march into the heart of the city waving banners reading "Kill Us." Truckloads of police and troop reinforcements also picked up about 1,000 rioting Buddhist youths who were against the action and said that marching south with anti-govt no statue or rules have been enacted and anti-American contravened by the attorney-general's proceedings.

The crowd hurled rocks and dozens of youths grabbed the jeeps as the Americans and against the 29 persons accused Vietnamese in the vehicles of continued labor demonstrations fought their way clear and fled on foot.

Twenty-Nine Ordered To Hearing

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Supreme Court justice ruled Monday that 29 persons charged with contempt of court following demonstrations at the Lepidopterus Ltd., plant in Burnaby last month must defend themselves against the action next Monday.

Assaults Bring 17-Month Jail Term

A man with four previous convictions for violence was sentenced in central magistrate's court Monday to 17 months in jail for three assaults.

Kenneth Harris, 1144 Queens, was sentenced to one year for assaulting Victoria Constable Louis Pietz, six months for assaulting his wife Gloria, causing bodily harm, and one month for a common assault on his wife.

He pleaded not guilty to two of the charges.

TWO CUTS

Constable Pietz said he and Constable James Leukfield went to Harris' home May 7 in response to an ambulance call.

Mrs. Harris answered the door. She was bleeding profusely from two cuts on her jaw, court was told.

Harris told the police to leave his property, but they stayed and went to escort Mrs. Harris from the house.

BOTTLE RAISED

Constable Pietz said as he walked from the house he heard a scuffle and turned to find Harris standing near him with an empty vodka bottle raised in the air.

Harris retreated to the kitchen and was heard by Constable Pietz to mutter "shoot me." On learning that Harris had two guns, Constable Pietz returned to the house.

When Constable Pietz went to get the guns, Harris knelt him in the groin and hit him in the mouth, Constable Pietz said.

KNIFE FELL

Harris was subdued and released when he said he would behave himself. He then tried to push the policeman down the basement steps, court was told.

During the struggle, Harris reached toward his back pocket, where he had a hunting knife. Constable Pietz knocked his shoulder and the knife fell to the floor.

Mrs. Harris said she and her husband had been drinking May 7. They began arguing and her husband struck her with a broken pop bottle.

GRABBED BY HAIR
She said that on June 5 she and her husband had been drinking, but separately. She was lying on a chertfield when he came in.

"He was irate," Mrs. Harris said. "He grabbed me by the hair and pulled me off the chertfield."

She said she suffered bruising. The police were called and when they arrived her husband pushed her out the door and would not let her in.

GRAVE PROBLEM

Harris told the court he had a "very grave alcoholic problem" and asked to be sent to the Alouette camp, where treatment is given alcoholics.

Magistrate William Ostler said he would recommend that Harris be screened for a period in the camp.

Harris had been convicted in February of assaulting a peace officer, prosecutor Peter Birkett said.

He had also been convicted twice before for assault causing bodily harm and once before for assault with intent.

Cigarettes worth $64, $400 worth of mechanics' tools, and six pairs of sunglasses were stolen by Barry Cragg when he broke into the Trans-Canada Service Station, 480 West Burnside, early Saturday morning.

Cragg, 3535 First, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and was remanded to June 21 for a pre-sentence report.

Albert Camfield, 1140 Palmer, similarly charged, was remanded without plea to Friday.

Then he and Cragg will make their plea on a charge of breaking into the Supersonic Car Wash, 628 Gorge.

Det. Ronald Coulter said the tools were recovered with the co-operation of Cragg.

Patrick Holzhelm, serving 15 months for false pretences, was sentenced to six months for gaining lodgings by fraud and false pretences, to run concurrent with his present term.

He admitted giving a valueless cheque for $15.49 for lodgings at a Prince George hotel and to cashing a worthless cheque for $20 in Kamloops.

Asked why he did it, Holzhelm said: "I got one of those streaks when it didn't matter any more."

Hugh McLeod, CFB Esquimalt, was fined $50 for drinking liquor in a public place.

He was seen sitting in a car on Barkley Street May 28, drinking beer.

Michael Smith of Parkville was fined $100 in traffic court for failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and $40 for careless driving.

Joseph Fortin, 1623 Belmont, was fined $100 for failing to remain.

Fined for careless driving: Jerry Lavigne, 825 Colville, $40; Thomas Andre, 2073 Chaucer, $35.

Priceless Throne For Expo 67

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters)—Iran may lend its priceless Peacock Throne to Expo 67 the Montreal World's fair next April.

Iranian officials are reported giving serious consideration to the suggestion and are wondering how the fabulous gem-studded golden throne could be shipped to Montreal.

In Simple Terms

Law and the Driver

Many motorists are not aware of the clauses of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee has prepared a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

SECTION 140 (6) Speed Limits

6 (a) A municipality may by bylaw direct that the rate of speed at which a person may drive or operate a motor-vehicle within the municipality upon a lane not exceeding 20 feet in width shall not be in excess of 15 miles per hour.

6 (b) A municipality which has enacted a by-law under clause (a) is not required to erect signs designating the rate of speed at which motor-vehicles may be driven or operated.

6 (c) No person shall drive or operate a motor-vehicle upon a lane in a municipality which has enacted a bylaw under clause (a) at a greater rate of speed than 15 miles per hour.

Comment

This section deals with the authority of municipalities to set speed limits in lanes within their municipal boundaries.

The speed limit shall not be in excess of 15 mph and the municipality is not required to post signs designating the rate of speed in any specific lane. However, regardless of whether a sign is posted, no person shall drive a motor vehicle in a lane at a greater rate of speed than 15 mph where a bylaw under Clause (a) has been enacted by the municipality concerned.

Mississippi

Arguments Trouble Wet March

OAKLAND, Miss. (UPI) — About 150 sullen demonstrators trudged through a thunder storm on the ninth day of the Mississippi freedom march, and their leaders tried to work out their differences as they walked.

The marchers stopped for lunch after covering about six miles. Their clothes, soaked from more than an hour of rain, clung to them and they had trouble keeping their footing on the wet grass by the highway.

WEEKS TO GO

There were few raincoats in evidence. It was the first wet weather of the march, which may take another two weeks to get to Jackson.

Floyd McKissick, head of the Congress of Racial Equality, showed up to take over the march from Dr. Martin Luther King, who returned to Chicago.

DISSENSION DENIED

McKissick denied there was dissension among the leaders of the various civil rights groups involved in the march. "Dissension isn't the right word," he said.

"We decided last week we just don't want to march, march, march with no purpose," he said. "Everyone has their own ideas about what we ought to do. It's matter of reaching agreement and making a decision which everyone will accept."

PAINT WAS OLD

As the marchers trooped past a crossroads, they saw three-foot high letters — KKK — painted in white on the pavement of Highway 51, and in orange on a general store. The paint appeared old and weathered. About 60 whites stood by, staring silently at the line.

Before leaving the camp Monday morning, news men were shoed across the road so all the marchers could hold a secret meeting.

Road Death Probe Urged

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta coroners should ask for an autopsy on every driver killed in a traffic accident, provincial coroner Dr. M. M. Cantor said Monday.

The autopsy should be performed as quickly as possible, checking specifically for evidence of alcohol, carbon monoxide, barbiturates or tranquillizers, Dr. Cantor told a provincial coroner's meeting.

Inquests also should be called in all traffic fatalities involving more than one vehicle or more than one death, Alberta's chief coroner said.

Burglars Hit Truckers

Thieves ransacked a filing cabinet at OK Trucking Ltd., 760 Topaz, Sunday night and stole $20.

They used a mallet belonging to the firm to break in.

Two suits and a money clip containing $30 were stolen early Sunday morning from Alber Lawrence's suite at 1120 Blanshard.

Communication Needed

Toastmasters Have Equipment

Toastmasters were urged Saturday to participate more in municipal affairs, and also on boards of education.

Speaking at the windup banquet of the two-day toastmasters regional conference in the Empress ballroom, James C. Sonstetter, toastmasters' international director said, "Toastmasters have the equipment to do the job."

He suggested members take an active part in city and municipal affairs, and also on boards of education.

He noted that 70 per cent of failures in business and economic life was not caused by the lack of technical skills, but by failure to communicate with fellow employees and business associates.

The director observed there is a great need for people to have the ability to express themselves.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson was guest speaker at the banquet, which was attended by more than 250.

Toastmaster Robert Rusk was the winner of the speak-off finale. His topic was Live Profoundly For the Success of Your Nation.

He will represent region No. 1 in the international speaking contests to be held in San Diego in August.

Victoria toastmaster A. R. D. Robertson was named as a candidate to represent this region in the election of international directors at the August conference.

Ald. Robert Baird, toastmasters district governor was host for the convention which was held here for the first time.

George Knudson invests part of his earnings from the professional golf circuit in London Life insurance—and wonders

George Knudson talks about his $160,000 of London Life insurance—and wonders if it's enough

"About 4 years ago, I sat down with my London Life agent and asked him two questions. His answers—and the fact that I can double my money with London Life—started it all."

Most men play golf to relax after a day in the office.

For George Knudson—one of the leading professional golfers in Canada—golf is the office. A bad slice or weak putt can cost him thousands of dollars.

The "Fat" Years

"My London Life agent also happens to be an old friend. So when we sat down 4 years ago, we knew each other pretty well."

"We both knew that my years on the pro circuit are the 'fat' years—the chance to make a good deal of money. But you can't expect them to last past age 40—the time when most men are just reaching their income peak."

"So I had two questions. First, how should I plan the maximum protection for my family? Secondly, how should I set aside the most money in the 'fat' earning years for the 'leaner' years that may follow?"

At the time, George owned one $10,000 Jubilee whole life policy. Together, they worked out a program to meet the two objectives. His London Life representative recommended a third objective—income for him and his family if George should become disabled and unable to earn a living.

George purchased a $50,000 endowment policy. Regular review of his family responsibilities and earning potential has led to two more purchases—another $50,000 endowment and a $50,000 whole life policy.

If anything should happen to George—either death or disability—his family would have an adequate income. (Note: In the event of disability, the Company will also pay the premiums on his policies while he is disabled.)

Double His Money

All his London Life policies are profit-sharing. So these policies earn dividends for him every year. He is leaving these to accumulate at a good rate of interest and can look forward to a substantial retirement income. Or at age 65, he can get back more than double the money paid in premiums (based on the current dividend scale).

George Knudson has very sound ideas about his financial future:

"I play in about 25 tournaments a year all over North America. I expect to keep it up until I'm 40 or so."

"Who knows, I might become a club pro. I'd also like to spend some time traveling in the off-season with my wife, Shirley, and see the country at a leisurely pace."

"The point is, my big earning years are up to age 40. By then I want to be financially secure. I plan to have all my life insurance paid for by then. I may even buy more."

How Much Is Enough?

George Knudson owns more life insurance than most men—because he earns more than most men. London Life believes life insurance should be tailored to the man—his career, his income, his family and his ambitions.

If you would like to discuss your life insurance with a representative, call a London Life office listed in the telephone book. For a free copy of the handbook, PLAIN TALK ABOUT LIFE INSURANCE, write to the London Life Insurance Company, Dept. Z, 255 Dufferin Avenue, London, Ontario.

Medallion Designer Awarded

Thomas Shingles of 3386 Kingsley, designer of one side of Canada's centennial medallion, receives prize of $1,500 Monday from Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh, minister responsible for centennial activities. Right is centennial commissioner John Fisher. Mr. Shingles is retired chief engraver of Royal Canadian Mint.

Mediator Present

Seaway Talks Resume After Brief Walkout

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Mediation talks between representatives of 1,200 workers on Canadian sections of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the seaway authority resumed Monday with the appearance of authority president, Dr. Pierre Camu. Union representatives walked out shortly after the talks began at 10 a.m. because Dr. Camu wasn't present.

The mediator, Senator Norman MacKenzie, said Dr. Camu had promised to join the talks at 2:30 p.m. When he showed up, negotiations began again.

The workers, represented by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC), threaten to strike at noon Friday if demands are not met.

A conciliation report recommended an immediate wage increase of seven-per-cent and a further seven-per-cent in the second year of a two-year contract.

The union's original demand was for a 35-per-cent boost in one year to bring Canadian seaway rates more in line with those on the U.S. side of the international waterway.

Battered Oil Ship Proceeding

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The American 4,300-ton oil drilling ship (Gomar Star) was 210 miles south of St. John's late Monday and proceeding at 8½ knots toward the port under her own power. She carries a crew of 65.

Pounded by gale winds and heavy seas Sunday, she was rendered powerless for a time when sea water mixed with her fuel.

Air Canada Talks Continue

MONTREAL (CP)—Negotiations continued Monday in the dispute between Air Canada and the Sales Employees' Association, which has called a strike for midnight Wednesday.

The independent union, which represented some 1,500 Air Canada passenger agents, switchboard and communications operators, is asking for a two-year contract providing for yearly 10-per-cent increases and a 37½-hour work week.

Trophies Awarded In Yacht Race

Ivan Peetz and Fred Robinson were winners of the Capital City Yacht Club's predicted-log races between Tsehum Harbor and Ganges at the weekend.

Thirty-seven power boats competed. Mr. Peetz won the Hoffer Gulf Trophy Saturday in Gogsaam. John Bailey came second in Fascination, and Archie McBride third in Senator II.

The Rolly Halls Trophy was won Sunday in the race back to Tsehum Harbor by Fred Robinson in Con Dios. Kenneth Lineham came second in Ken-Mur. John Bailey third in Fascination. The Angus Outboard Trophy was won by David Sharp in BVDs.

Trophies were presented Sunday by Commodore Archie McBride.

More Bank Cash Freed

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp announced in the Commons Monday the government will free a portion of chartered bank cash reserves for investment in interest-bearing securities.

He told the Commons the present tight money situation is needed to dampen inflation and over-investment in new industrial plant and equipment.

Mr. Sharp made the statements launching second readings on technical amendments to the Bank of Canada Act. Included is a provision which will authorize the government to give the central bank a firm policy direction on monetary policy if a dispute over it develops between the cabinet and the Bank of Canada.

The minister said he soon will be introducing amendments to the Bank Act. But in dealing with the Bank of Canada Act, it was necessary to describe some provisions of the proposed new act.

Chartered banks now are required to keep eight per cent of their Canadian dollar deposit liabilities in cash and in deposits with the Bank of Canada, which earn no interest. The banks also agree to keep an additional eight per cent in liquid reserves.

Mr. Sharp said his proposals will require chartered banks to keep cash and Bank of Canada deposits equal to 12 per cent of their demand deposit liabilities and four per cent of their notice deposit liabilities. This would require them to keep only 6.6 per cent of their Canadian dollar deposit liabilities in cash and in deposits in the Bank of Canada.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker scored the tight money situation, saying it works a hardship on small businessmen in particular.

He said the clause empowering the government to give monetary policy direction to the Bank of Canada in the case of a dispute is a good one.

Current monetary policy became necessary as slack productive capacity of the country became more fully employed. As the slack decreased, it became necessary "to let rising demand for credit have its impact" in higher interest rates. It is not in the public interest now, he said, to encourage easy credit conditions. To do so would put further upward pressures on prices and costs.

Pedestrian Hit By Car

A pedestrian is in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph's Hospital after being knocked down at Douglas and Saanich Road Monday morning.

Mrs. Helen Charlebois, 3439 Bethune, received head, hip and leg injuries.

Police said she was crossing Douglas when the accident occurred. Driver of the car was identified as Heinrich Behder, 4091 Raymond.

Drive-In Objection

What Must I Do?
— Angry Resident

"What must I do to get action? Must I bring a larger deputation to city council?"

So asked Mrs. Lilian M. Savory, 188 Oak Bay Avenue. She has, for a number of years, been complaining about noise and disturbances emanating from a drive-in restaurant near her home.

Mrs. Savory, who has written many letters to council and has also appeared in person, said late-night noise from the drive-in was making life intolerable for her and her guests.

LETTERS GIVE HELP

She was supported by letters from Adam Schulz, 1077 Davis Street, and Mrs. Grace Tule, 1887 Oak Bay Avenue.

Indian Lore Explored

On eve of annual visit to coastal Indian villages, Lieutenant-Governor Peakes looks over gifts from previous trips, all classics of Indian carvers' art. His party was to fly to Prince Rupert this morning to board destroyer-escort HMCS Yukon for five-day trip. Mrs. Peakes will join party in Port Hardy Friday. They will return by air Saturday evening after salmon barbecue in Alert Bay. — (Jim Ryan)

Temporary Gorge Span Given Go-Ahead

In order to facilitate work on a new bridge over the Gorge, city council Monday gave Saanich permission to go ahead on construction of a temporary structure.

The temporary bridge will be east of the present crossing, and work on it will be started at once. Saanich and Victoria are negotiating at the present for the sale of Gorge Park to Saanich. The parkland will be turned over by the city at the nominal price of $1,500 an acre, and the road area, which is part of the park, will be independently assessed for value before a final agreement is made.

Body Found Below Bridge

The badly-decomposed body of Gerald Chipps of the Becher Bay Indian Reserve was found in the water below Johnson Street bridge Monday.

Disturbed Teen-Agers

'Treatment Centre Needed'

An institution where disturbed teen-agers can receive psychiatric care was described Monday as an "immediate and urgent need" by Ald. Lily Wilson at a meeting of city council.

"We have been worried and distressed over the past few months at the number of disturbed youngsters who seem to be ending up in the detention home," said Mrs. Wilson, who is chairman of the intermunicipal detention home committee.

"We feel that it is the responsibility of the provincial government to provide a place where these youngsters can be treated."

In the past two months, Mrs. Wilson said, seven such cases have been received at the detention home. Because of their actions and because of the effect they would have on other inmates, it was necessary to keep them in confinement.

"These youngsters are certainly not going to be helped by being kept in a cell—and that is what it amounts to when they are confined. You can imagine the state of mind they would be in when they are released," the alderman said.

Speaking to a motion by the detention home committee, which was supported by city council, Ald. Wilson said there was a dire need for the provincial government to take action in this matter. Psychiatric care in this city was practically non-existent. The two major hospitals in the city had no accommodation and the new hospital being built by the federal government would provide only 24 beds.

"We've got half of them filled already," said Ald. Wilson. "There is just no place for these unfortunate people to go."

By JIM BRAHAM

The mailed gauntlet was hurled Monday by Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant, and the policemen's union picked it up and hit him with it.

Public protection, not municipal politics, is the main concern of the Esquimalt Police union, the union executive observed in a prepared statement late Monday night.

Reeve Bryant had earlier challenged the policemen to make it a political fight rather than a legal battle against their having to double as firefighters.

'ONE-HALF'

"It is our firm belief that one-half police and one-half firefighter results in one-half efficiency," the police union executive said.

"We are also of the opinion that the ratepayers should be kept fully informed as to the quality of their police protection. And ask the police commission and municipal council why the results of the recent police and fire investigations have not been released to the public."

The Archer report for the Victoria city police and the Henry report for Saanich police were both made available to their respective ratepayers, the union noted.

COURT RULING

The reeve's challenge came after a decision by the B.C. Federation of Peace Officers over the weekend to seek a B.C. Supreme Court ruling on the legality of including firefighting duties in the work of Esquimalt policemen.

Federation vice-president Jack Groves, who is also a member of the Oak Bay police force, said the federation did not believe a man could be both a good fireman and a good policeman.

The federation spokesman said the union doesn't think the practice is legally tenable. The municipal council deals with the firefighter, while the police commission hires and fires constables.

UNFAIR

An Esquimalt ratepayer said the reeve's challenge was unfair, because the policemen were earning a living, and a family could not live on the pay of a municipal councillor.

Cooking Expert To Sign Books

Muriel Wilson, food columnist of the Colonist's Islander magazine, will be autographing copies of her cook book at the Book Nook in Centennial Square at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Muriel Wilson Colonist Cook Book has sold about 4,500 copies so far.

Paint-Up Going Glassy On Buccaneer Theme

The painting craze has hit Esquimalt—but it's going to be store windows, not fences.

From 50 to 80 windows have been offered by Esquimalt merchants, and artists are invited to depict scenes to go along with Buccaneer Day, to be held Saturday.

A $50 prize will be given for the best painting and a trophy to the best-dressed store clerk in period costume. Painting is to start immediately. Artists may register with Turnbull's Pharmacy, Esquimalt and Head.

School Track Studied In Saanich

By BILL STAVDAL

Saanich School Board Monday took the first steps toward building a $50,000 track at Claremont High School.

The board authorized a survey of land adjoining the school and will study potential sources of revenue for the project.

Trustees took the action following presentation of a brief by Claremont principal J. W. Lott.

NEEDED

"There is a real need for a regulation track on which our athletes and those from other schools can train and perform," said Mr. Lott's brief.

Said board chairman Alex Porteous:

"Development of this track is certainly something the board is desirous of achieving."

Trustees Nora Lindsay and Reginald Clarke will confer with service clubs, the Department of Education and Saanich municipal council for their views on supporting the job.

DIRECTOR

It was suggested that the track might make an appropriate centennial project.

In other business, the board heard the suggestion from night school director John Forge that changes are needed in the program.

Mr. Forge, a teacher in the district, reported that the night school system needs a part-time or even full-time director. Other possibilities he suggested were that the program be concentrated in one school, or that it be merged with Greater Victoria's system.

PENSIONERS

"I feel that the needs of several segments of our community, notably the old age pensioners and residents of the Indian communities are not being adequately served by our present limited organization. A change is indicated," said Mr. Forge.

Last winter the program had an enrolment of 370 and operated at a small loss.

Missing Girl Slept

Little Teresa Duckmanton peacefully slept away Sunday afternoon in the bush near her Colwood home, unaware of the six-hour ordeal that was going on nearby.

Teresa, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Duckmanton, 2909 Dickerson Road, wandered from her home at noon.

When her mother noticed her absence neighbors launched a search.

Police, firemen, Boy Scouts and two police tracking dogs joined in.

Six hours later, Teresa was found huddled under a bush at the end of Mesford Road.

Seven Snatched from Monoxide Deaths

Family 'Absolutely Helpless' After Fumes Strike in Boat

Members of the Dueck family of Knapp Island, north of Sidney, are heroes of the Fevang family of Victoria, whose seven members narrowly escaped death from carbon monoxide poisoning Sunday.

"If they hadn't been home when we got to their dock, we wouldn't be here now," said Carson Fevang, 4667 Cordova Bay, who with six other members of the family was overcome by the fumes during a boat trip.

Mrs. Sigurd Fevang, who fell into a coma in the boat, was still in only fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital late Monday. Their children, Ben, 15, and Michael, 12, are still woozy and missed school Monday.

Mrs. Carson Fevang's brother, George Bennett, 42, and Sigurd Fevang, 676 Genevieve, Carson's brother, are also recovering at home.

When the group sought help at Knapp Island, only Bennett still remained capable of handling the boat. He passed out with the rest as the boat reached the Dueck dock.

Peter Dueck, 21, immediately administered artificial respiration to Mrs. Fevang, who had stopped breathing, Mr. Fevang said.

Another Dueck called RCMP, who rushed a doctor to the island.

"We were absolutely helpless," said Mr. Fevang. "If they hadn't been there, we wouldn't be here."

The group left Ganges, Salt Spring Island, about 5:30 p.m. for the hour-and-a-half trip to Canoe Cove in Carson's 13-foot inboard cruiser.

They were at Ferguson Point, about half way, when the gas poisoning effects first became evident. The two children became violently ill. Then, one by one, the others began to be overcome.

Mrs. Fevang fell into a coma on the floor of the boat, but by that time no one was capable of helping her. They suffered from nausea, partial paralysis of limbs, and lack of co-ordination. Speech became incoherent.

Finally, only Mr. Bennett was capable of handling the boat.

Fighting nausea and the fatal sleep-inducing effect of the poison gas, he brought the boat into a Knapp Island dock, and passed out.

"We were all completely useless by then," Sigurd Fevang said.

"I wasn't even thinking clearly enough to get the name of the man who gave my wife artificial respiration. He worked on her for about an hour."

An ambulance met the sick and worried crew at Canoe Cove and rushed Mrs. Fevang to hospital.

Mr. Fevang said he believes the exhaust smoke containing the carbon monoxide was not coming from a leak, but was being blown into the boat over the stern.

"We don't have much boating experience," he said. "There was a pretty strong wind behind us, and we had almost all the cabin windows closed — all except the one at the back."

The trip from Knapp to Canoe Cove was made with the cockpit cover removed.

The ordeal had one other bit of grief: Carson Fevang lost his false teeth while being sick over the side.

Record Sales

Madill Pays Extra Dividend

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The Nanaimo engineering firm of S. Madill Ltd. which makes steel spar trees for the North American logging industry established record sales of over $800,000 in May and the directors at a meeting last week decided to pay an extra dividend on the common shares.

A spokesman of the company said that the May sales alone were higher than the 12 months sales "only a few years ago."

In addition to its spar trees, Madill specializes in the building of boom boats for the logging industry.

The initial extra dividend is of four cents and will be additional to the usual 4 cents quarterly payment due next month.

AGENT APPOINTED

Lafarge Cement Company of North America states it has an agreement which will make the Victoria firm of Butler Brothers its sales agents for the Victoria area.

The two firms are to work together but Lafarge is not taking Butler over.

Butler has hitherto been a distributor of Lafarge products in the district.

HIGH COST LOANS

Two of Canada's largest and most highly rated borrowers are having to pay six per cent and better for their new financing. Bell Telephone Company, which recently failed to float a satisfactory loan on the New York market, is to pay 6 1/2 per cent on a $35,000,000 Canadian 21-year loan, non-callable for 18 years. The Bell securities will be offered to the public at $9.70 to yield 6.15 per cent.

HYDRO ISSUES BONDS

Ontario Hydro is marketing $50,000,000 six per cent debentures maturing July 5, 1988, not callable before 1984. They are being offered at par to yield 6 per cent.

Both issues were reported Monday to be attracting favorable investment attention.

CPR UPS PAYMENT

For the second half year in succession, Canadian Pacific Railway has increased the semi-annual dividend on its common shares.

CPR will pay $1.45 on Aug. 1 to shareholders of June 24 with 70 cents of the amount attributable to dividends from Canadian Pacific Investments.

STOCK ROSE

In February CPR paid $1.40 a share and in August 1965 it paid $1.25. In February 1966, CPR's dividends of $1.50 included $1.00 from CPI.

The dividend was announced following the close of the stock market but CPR stock rose during the day over a point to $63.25.

TO DRILL ON LAND

Place Gas and Oil is hoping to start drilling this fall on its 419 square miles of gas exploration lands in Lancashire, England. Place also has all rights under the North Sea but so far has not been able to obtain an offshore drilling rig.

SPLIT PROPOSED

Velok Ltd. of Montreal is proposing to split its common stock 10 for 1. The company has also increased the quarterly dividend from 25 cents to 30 cents.

TAKE-OVER BID

English Electric has made an offer to buy Ruston and Hornsby, a leading British diesel manufacturing firm.

The deal is subject to approval of Ruston and Hornsby board a deal which would give 13 English Electric shares for each 10 Ruston common shares. Cash would be paid for Ruston preferred.

Pound Bolstered By 11 Nations

LONDON — Massive support for sterling was announced by the Bank of England in London and by the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland. Though the size of the support package was not disclosed, informed sources report it is in the order of $1,000,000,000.

The package consists of establishment by 11 nations, including the United States and France, of a system of currency swap and credit arrangements. Should the Bank of England become loaded with pounds sterling through any run on the pound the Bank could swap pounds for currencies of nations in the pact.

Inclusion of France in the new arrangement is expected to give added psychological support to the pound sterling. Last September when 10 nations established a standby credit arrangement to protect the pound France was not a participant.

Even under the new arrangement, France preferred to set itself a little apart. The Bank of France announced that it has concluded a three-month credit facility with the Bank of England, renewable by mutual consent.

Los Angeles Next For B.C. Boosters?

Part of the staff of B.C. House in San Francisco may be moved to Los Angeles, Trade and Commerce Minister Loftmark said Monday.

He also said, after returning from a visit to San Francisco, that he thinks he has found a market for "scrap" woods such as alder, birch and poplar.

Purpose of his trip was to investigate whether the industrial development, trade and commerce section of B.C. House should be moved to Los Angeles, where the bulk of California's secondary industry is now located.

San Francisco is still the best location so far as tourism is concerned, but it is becoming more necessary every day for the trade and commerce section to be moved "because of the inevitable growth of secondary industry in the Los Angeles area," the minister said.

California furniture manufacturers are "very interested" in the possibility of having "component furniture parts" made from alder, poplar and especially birch, he said.

Some birch logs were exported recently from B.C. to California, but "we are not at all happy about the shipment of birch—we want to see those B.C. logs cut up into lumber and processed into component parts in B.C.," said Mr. Loftmark.

While in California, the minister also visited Tahoe National Forest where extensive cutting of trees on a selective basis indicates the Californians are running short on their wood supply.

"They're cutting pretty fine and they're reaching into the national forest. I think everybody underestimated the demand for lumber and paper," he concluded.

Mr. Loftmark also visited a hydro-electric dam which is being built at Buller's Bar on the Yuba River, during his whirlwind trip.

'Cheap Power Ahead'

Premier Bennett said Monday despite rising costs, British Columbia will have hydro-electric power cheaper than power now being developed anywhere else in the world.

Columbia River power will cost about two mills and Peace River power at site will cost three mills, he told a press conference.

COST UNKNOWN
"We are in an inflationary period—we won't know the cost until the project is completed," he said.

The premier said a lot of people don't realize the cost of the enormous power grid system now being built in the province, but he said B.C. is having no trouble financing the two-river policy.

He said the rate of growth of the use of electricity is higher than the energy board forecast of 1961, on which the projects were based.

"Revenue is coming in well, the province is in wonderful financial shape."

Apprentice Set For Competition

A fifth-year Victoria plumber's apprentice will compete in the week-long international apprenticeship contest in August at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.

Barry Menzies, 25, of 1671 Freeman will enter the international competitions after winning the two-day regional contest held in Vancouver over the weekend. Thomas Foster, 23, of 250 Oswego, was runner-up.

The contest consisted of both theoretical and practical tests on such aspects of plumbing as brazing, welding, rigging, caulking and wiping.

UNION PROUD
The union is very proud of the outstanding performance of these two apprentices, and plans to recognize their efforts are being made by both the union and the Victoria joint training committee. Thomas Wheatley, plumbers' union business agent, said Monday.

In August, Mr. Menzies will be competing for a $1,000 prize against all top fifth-year plumbing apprentices in North America, the agent said.

This is not the first time a Victorian has been entered in the international competitions. In 1954, William Wickett represented B.C., and 10 years later Donald Reynolds competed for the $1,000 prize, according to Mr. Wheatley.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly fat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appear—active.

Policeman Named Director

Appointment of Frank J. Regan, staff sergeant at the Nelson RCMP subdivision, as director for the commercial transport department was announced Monday by Commercial Transport Minister Broner.

Mr. Regan will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of J. G. M. Lock of Victoria, a former RCMP staff sergeant who has served the past 10 years with the provincial government.

Mr. Regan is expected to arrive here later this month. His experience includes 21 years with the B.C. Provincial Police and the RCMP, and service in the air force during the Second World War.

Convocation Scheduled

Education and Labor Minister Peterson will be the keynote speaker at the first convocation of the B.C. Institute of Technology at Burnaby on June 17.

The graduating class of 371 students has completed two years of study in such diversified technologies as instrumentation, forest products, broadcasting, medical laboratory work, chemistry and business administration.

Dr. G. Neil Perry, deputy minister of education, will present National Diplomas of Technology to the graduates.

What does the Bank of Montreal offer you?

Basic Banking, that's what! Basic Banking is based on the fact that nine times out of ten when you enter a bank, you are looking for service in one of three basic areas—savings, personal chequing or current accounts. Other services you may use once in a while, but these three services cover your day-to-day banking needs. Basic Banking means simply that we have geared our branch offices to give you absolutely top performance in these three vital services. With Basic Banking, you'll get your banking done pleasantly and efficiently and be on your way in a matter of minutes. Basic Banking doesn't eliminate other banking services, of course. On the contrary, you'll find a more complete range of financial services at the Bank of Montreal than at any other type of financial institution. Wouldn't Basic Banking be the answer to your banking needs?

Liberal MP Charges:

Provinces Drain Campus Fund

OTTAWA (CP) — A Liberal MP described provincial governments Monday as "middlemen" draining off federal funds intended for universities.

BUDGETS CUT

"This is the real serious problem that faces a federal government when it spends funds in the field of higher education," the Liberal MP said.

NDP ATTACKS

Mr. Deachman spoke in defence of the government during an attack by NDP members on the Canada Student Loans Act.

MEASURE APPROVED

The resolution was approved. A bill giving effect to the changes was given first reading.

BURDEN TOO HEAVY

Limited loans were not going to permit students from low-income families to attend college. They needed free tuition, bursaries and scholarships, without the burden of repayment.

FUND SUCCESSFUL

Mr. Sharp said the fund which began just before the 1964-65 academic year, had been "highly successful." Some 42,000 students were helped the first year and 50,000 in 1965-66.

DEFICIT EXPECTED

Mr. Sharp said demand exceeded expectations last year. It became apparent several provinces would overspend their allotment so the federal government gave them the go-ahead, but now had to amend the act to cover the deficit—likely to be $10,000,000.

Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver-Kingsway) said the act helps students who can almost afford a university education on their own.

MARRIAGE SUFFERS

Others with less money have no chance. The fund was a deterrent to marriage. One girl graduating from the University of British Columbia had told her she wanted to marry a student and he would support him while he continued studies.

PREGNANCY POSSIBLE

The girl was concerned about entering the marriage with a $3,000 loan—fund debt—"what kind of a dowry is that?"—and about the possibility of getting pregnant.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) challenged the government to make a statement on the abolition of university fees.

SHARP REPLIES

Mr. Sharp said student loans and other government assistance is not enough to ensure that all those capable get a university education. But free education would not give that assurance either.

ONTARIO QUESTIONED

John Reid (L—Kenora-Rainy River) asked whether it is true the Ontario government requires students who receive provincial bursaries to take a $150 federal loan first.

Mr. Sharp said that in general the Ontario arrangements for administering the loan fund were "not inconsistent" with the loan extension resolution.

Parents Drowned In Rescue Try

PINE FALLS, Man. (CP) — The parents of a 14-year-old girl slipped into the river when she lost her footing on the shoreline rocks.

The girl got safely to shore and, using artificial respiration, revived another of her would-be rescuers.

GIRL SLIPPED

It happened on a family fishing trip along the turbulent Winnipeg River, 70 miles north-east of Winnipeg and just downstream from a hydro dam.

Police gave this account: Deborah Durie, 14, of the Winnipeg suburb of St. Vital

Russians Vote For Party

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union claimed Monday that 99.94 per cent of the nation's 140,000,000 registered voters turned out Sunday to vote for a new parliament. It said a total of 829,437 persons voted against the official candidates.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said the turnout proved "the high degree of organization and consciousness of the Soviet people."

The voters filled the 1,517 seats in the two Houses of the Supreme Soviet (parliament), endorsing the lone Communist party candidate who stood for each post.

On Way to Vote

Lord Thomson Chided For Khrushchev Miss

LONDON (CP) — The Guardian says, tongue-in-cheek, that Lord Thomson "slipped up" by not obtaining former Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev's memoirs for his newspaper, the Sunday Times.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said the turnout proved "the high degree of organization and consciousness of the Soviet people."

The Sunday Times plans to run the memoirs of former prime minister Harold Macmillan in weekly instalments. The Guardian notes in an editorial. Earlier the Sunday newspaper carried Lord Moran's story on the late Sir Winston Churchill and author Russell Braddon's story on Thomson.

But Khrushchev, in a rare Moscow appearance, told a reporter during the weekend he has no intention of writing the story of his life.

"The pages of Pravda, it seems, are not to be enlivened by the minutiae of life in the Kremlin," says The Guardian. "Nor, presumably, are those of The Sunday Times. Clearly Lord Thomson has slipped up."

"We have been treated to Russell Braddon on Lord Thomson, Lord Moran on Churchill and now Macmillan on Macmillan. But we are to be deprived of Khrushchev, or anybody else, on Khrushchev. In spite of those happy hours spent chatting in the Kremlin, Lord Thomson has failed to secure the Khrushchev rights. He must be regretting that Lord Moran was not Khrushchev's doctor too."

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg Free Press says that the Ontario government's requirement that students take a $150 federal loan first is "not inconsistent" with the loan extension resolution.

Mr. Sharp said that in general the Ontario arrangements for administering the loan fund were "not inconsistent" with the loan extension resolution.

Communists Lag In Rome Vote

ROME (UPI) — The Christian Democrats took an early lead over the Communists Monday night in substantial returns from hard-fought provincial elections in Rome.

With about three-quarters of the vote counted in the province of Rome, where the Communists had hoped to emerge as the largest single party, the returns were as follows:

Christian Democrats — 458,009 votes or 30.8 per cent, a gain of 1.05 per cent over the last provincial elections in 1964.

Communists — 408,391 or 26.9 per cent, compared with 28.04 per cent two years ago.

FLORENCE 'RED'

Near-final returns from Florence showed the Communists had retained their position there as the largest single party with 35 per cent of the vote.

First returns for Rome were not released by the interior ministry until a full eight hours after the polls closed in municipal and provincial elections involving 4,882,152 voters in various parts of Italy.

In other parts of the country, first returns gave the Communists the lead, but the Christian Democrats later surged to a substantial advantage.

ORDERLY VOTING

The polls closed at 2 p.m. (5 a.m. PDT) after a day and a half of orderly voting.

No incidents were reported, although the campaign was heated and both the Communists and the Christian Democrats threw all their weight into the electoral battle in Rome.

The Communist party had hoped to exploit the plight of poor southern immigrants and the massive problems of Rome to emerge as the largest single party in the capital.

Christian Democrats — 458,009 votes or 30.8 per cent, a gain of 1.05 per cent over the last provincial elections in 1964.

Communists — 408,391 or 26.9 per cent, compared with 28.04 per cent two years ago.

Near-final returns from Florence showed the Communists had retained their position there as the largest single party with 35 per cent of the vote.

First returns for Rome were not released by the interior ministry until a full eight hours after the polls closed in municipal and provincial elections involving 4,882,152 voters in various parts of Italy.

In other parts of the country, first returns gave the Communists the lead, but the Christian Democrats later surged to a substantial advantage.

The polls closed at 2 p.m. (5 a.m. PDT) after a day and a half of orderly voting.

No incidents were reported, although the campaign was heated and both the Communists and the Christian Democrats threw all their weight into the electoral battle in Rome.

The Communist party had hoped to exploit the plight of poor southern immigrants and the massive problems of Rome to emerge as the largest single party in the capital.

With about three-quarters of the vote counted in the province of Rome, where the Communists had hoped to emerge as the largest single party, the returns were as follows:

U.K. to Send Medical Aid

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will make its biggest direct aid contribution to South Viet Nam in August when a British medical team leaves by air for Saigon under a $500,000 ($1,500,000), five-year program. Four leading British doctors and six senior nurses will take over surgery at Saigon's Nhl Don Hospital where 400 children share 200 beds and where there is an acute shortage of staff and modern equipment.

The British enjoy Toby by the Yard

Old English yard glasses like the one illustrated here were very popular in the 18th century, about the time that Toby was first brewed. They were kept in English lanes for a special type of competition that occurred when two gentlemen would compete to see who could down the contents of such a glass first. The yard glass is still in evidence today, and is especially popular with British university clubs where initiates are invited to down the contents of the yard glass in one draught. Have a yard of Toby!

Harmless Package

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. consulate here was evacuated for a short time Monday while police investigated a package consular employees felt was suspicious-looking. The package turned out to be harmless.

Commander Honored

The key to the city of Portland was presented during the weekend to Capt. W. P. Hayes, commander of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron.

The presentation by Mayor Terry Schunk of Portland was made following a courtesy visit to the Portland Rose festival by two Pacific Maritime command destroyer escorts, HMCS Yukon and Qu'Appelle.

The two warships were warmly welcomed to the American port and were toured by hundreds of Oregon residents.

The ships were berthed in downtown Portland during the evenings of their three-day stay. They were attractively displayed through the use of silhouette floodlighting.

Before going to Portland, the two warships participated in a convoy exercise with United States Navy ships, during which they formed part of the escort screening forces. Capt. Hayes was appointed officer in tactical command, and screen commander.

HMCS Qu'Appelle returned to Esquimalt Monday morning.

The Yukon bypassed Victoria and sailed directly for Prince Rupert, where today she will welcome Lieutenant-Governor Peakre aboard for his annual tour of coastal villages and towns of the province.

PLANTS GROW IN DARK

Temperature rather than light makes many plants grow, among them corn, which will grow in the night in warm weather.

Expo 67 is coming. Your once-in-a-lifetime chance to see the best of 70 countries for only $1.80.

Next year, there's no need to take a world tour. Because the world is coming to you. Over 70 countries are getting ready, right now, to bring you a dazzling array of their arts and achievements. The place — Expo 67, the extraordinary world exhibition at Montreal. To step into one of the fascinating national pavilions will be just like going abroad, with the atmosphere, the sights and sounds, the people, the music, the food and the fun. And as you go sightseeing from one country to another, each one will stamp your Expo passport with its own distinctive "visa". You never had a souvenir like this before. But then, there never was a show like Expo before — anywhere. Plan now to come to Montreal next year. At Expo 67, you'll see the world.

You'll see the dances and drama, and hear the music of half the world. The intricate, exquisite beauty of Thailand's traditional ballet. The strange music of Japan. The exciting, foot-stamping rhythms of Eastern Europe. Mariachis from Mexico. The songs of the gauchos from Argentina.

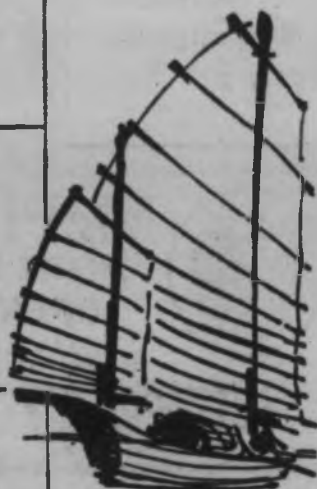

Any traveller will tell you that one of the pleasures of a world tour is the food. French food, Italian food, Swiss food, Russian food. All kinds of food. And international food will be one of the pleasures of Expo 67. Try sushi-yaki from Japan. Swedish smorgasbord. Pulao from India. Or dine in a flower boat from Mexico, to a serenade. If there's one place a diet doesn't belong, it's Expo 67.

If you've never been to a carnival in the Caribbean, come to Expo 67. Mon, it'll be a real "jump-up". There'll be calypso from Jamaica, steel bands from Trinidad, limbo dancers from Barbados. See how the limbo should be done, under a flaming pole six inches above the ground. Try it yourself, if you're brave enough.

Continental of Canadian Confederation

Catch the mood of the Far East, as you glide past a Chinese junk on a sampan ride. Take a trip in a Venetian gondola. Look over an icebreaker from the USSR. Spot dozens of foreign flags in the 300-berth Marina. Or watch giant freighters from around the world go by on the Seaway.

Africa — mysterious, exciting, different. In African Plaza, you'll see how old Africa blends with the new. You'll marvel at the modern achievements, then thrill to the age-old tom-tom. You'll see the progress of the new African nations, then watch a primitive ceremonial dance.

See the great achievements of the Soviet Union in the arts and sciences. Experience weightlessness in the space exhibit. Try typical dishes in the 1,100-seat restaurant. After your visit to the USSR Pavilion, your ideas about this great country will never be the same again.

An Expo 67 Passport lets you enjoy visits to all the national pavilions, all the Theme pavilions, and unlimited rides on the Expo Express. At the reduced advance price, a Daily Passport costs $1.80, a Weekly Passport (7 consecutive days), $6.50. Big savings, too, on Season Passports, and Youth Passports for the 13-21 age group. Children 2-12, half price. (Open as on April 28, 1967). On sale at banks, travel agencies, department stores, or wherever you see the official Expo 67 sign.

Lieut. Barry John Phillips, RCASC, and Mrs. Phillips are seen leaving Rideau Park United Church, Ottawa, following their marriage. The bride is the former Elinor Hunter of Ottawa. Her husband is the son of Mrs. J. Phillips, 2183 Central Avenue. Lieut. and Mrs. Phillips are now making their home at Barrie, Ont.

Sherry Clay Bride of G. W. Easton

Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Wayne Easton are honeymooning at Banff and Harrison Hot Springs following their marriage Saturday evening in St. Ardan's United Church.

The bride is the former Sherry Clay, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Clay, Cedar Avenue. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Edward Easton, Oakcrest Drive.

Arrangements of pink and white gladiolus, majestic daisies and white stocks were massed at the altar for the double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. A. G. MacLeod.

Mrs. Margaret Dixon soloist, sang The Lord's Prayer and I Love Thee. Mrs. V. Barclay was organist.

The bride chose an empire styled gown with soft draped skirt fashioned of silk bengaline. The skirt and butterfly train were appliqued with Venetian lace. Her wedding ring head piece held a chapel length veil also edged with exquisite lace.

She carried a crescent bouquet of roses and trailing stephanotis.

Miss Patricia Jackson was maid of honor and Miss Patricia Holmberg, Miss Pamela Jones and Miss Karen Easton were bridesmaids. They were in identical floor-length gowns of flame pink peau de soie and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Little Candice Clay and Lorna Davey were flower girls in a short frocks of matching peau de soie with lace trim. They carried colonial bouquets of carnations and roses.

Mr. W. Neill was best man and Mr. J. Lott, Mr. K. Leverage and Mr. M. Easton were ushers.

Baskets of white and flame colored gladiolus and peonies decorated Royal Oakwood Golf Club for the reception. Mr. D. Clayton Bruce proposed the bridal toast.

The new Mrs. Easton's going away outfit was a white linen dress, cut on A lines, with a hand knitted, flame pink, moiré coat. Her pillbox hat matched the coat and her accessories were white.

The couple will make their home at Wellington Manor, Victoria.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Clay, Miss M. Clay, Mr. A. Campbell, Mrs. M. Barter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Williamson, of Vancouver; Mr. R. D. Patterson, Chula Vista, Calif.; Mrs. G. Noble, Uchalest; Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Neill, Mrs. L. Haas, Saratoga Beach; Dr. and Mrs. G. Reynolds, Port Alberni; Dr. and Mrs. W. Lindsay, Dr. and Mrs. R. Lindsay, Nanaimo; Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Cornhill, Shawnigan Lake and Mr. A. P. Dawe, Kelowna.

Plan Tea

Dogwood Social Credit Women's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. E. Barker with president, Mrs. G. W. Cousins in the chair.

Plans for the strawberry tea and bake sale to be held from 2 to 5 p.m., June 18, at 1455 Fort Street, home of Mrs. M. C. Walkemeyer, were described by tea convener, Mrs. Howard Davis.

"Old Reliable" for Stomach Distress is still WILDER'S STOMACH POWDER. You don't need to pay high prices. Obtainable, quick relief from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Gastritis, Bloating with WILDER'S, a recognized formula for over 80 years for thousands who need help for acidity. Wherever medicine is sold.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A well-known Glasgow newspaperman, Matthew W. Brown and Mrs. Brown are here visiting Mr. Brown's brother, Mr. David Brown. Before returning to Scotland they expect to visit other relatives they have not seen for 40 years, Jean and Tom McDonald in Vancouver. They will also visit in Calgary before the flight home from Winnipeg to Prestwick.

Shower Party

The staff of Carne Rebekah Lodge held a shower for Miss Audrey Langhorst, a member of the initiation team, at the home of Miss Frances, Porter, Clive Drive. The many gifts were arranged in a beautifully decorated clothes basket, of pink and green. Mrs. S. Foubister assisted with the refreshments.

Sorority Member Feted

Members and former members of Xi Nu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, gathered at the home of Mrs. W. Wensley, 281 View Royal, to honor one of their members, Mrs. Flora Frankland. Mrs. Frankland, a July bride-elect was presented with many gifts, concealed under a maniquin dressed in a Japanese kimono. Games were played and lunch was served.

Set Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Robin C. E. Justice, 848 Swan Road, announce the engagement of their second daughter, Barbara Jean, to Mr. Robert David Stuart Cutler, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Cutler, formerly of Victoria, now residing at St. Bruno, Que. The marriage will take place July 2 in St. Mark's Anglican Church.

Extensive European Tour

Miss Shirley Bell arrived home recently from an extensive six-month tour of the British Isles and Continental Europe. Miss Bell's trip included a tour of England, a two-week skiing trip to Voss, Norway, a six-week visit to Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, France and Spain, the Netherlands and Denmark, including a visit to East Berlin, a highlight of her trip. A two-week motor-tour of Scotland and Ireland concluded her trip. Miss Bell will be returning to university in the fall for her Post Graduate year in Education.

St. Michael's Prize Giving

St. Michael's School will hold its 56th annual prize giving in the school gymnasium, 820 Victoria Avenue, commencing at 2:15 p.m. June 24. Prof. S. G. Pettit, MA, head of history department, University of Victoria, will present the prizes.

Wedding June 25

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Baker, of Castlegar, B.C., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Vivian Ruth, to Mr. Gordon Douglas Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fraser, 4237 Carey Road, Victoria. The ceremony will take place on June 25, at Como Lake United Church, Coquitlam, B.C.

An impressive display was given by the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Trials Club under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hudson.

Beauty Advice

"... I have never yet seen a finer method of improving the complexion. Wrinkles are smoothed, dryness is checked, blemishes vanish and the skin often takes on a healthy sun-shine look." (Extract from a report by Lila Hamilton regarding the use of the moist discovery found only in "2nd Debut." It is used as a powder base.) Most drug and department stores are now able to obtain supplies of this discovery that uses moisturizing action to help give sunshiny liveliness to the skin. For the information of readers the moisturizing skin discovery referred to is known as CEF 500 in single strength and CEF 1200 double strength. It is found only in "2nd Debut."

Gentile Called Bad Influence

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros assigned Jim Gentile to Oklahoma City Monday but the veteran first baseman with the exploding temper indicated he might quit baseball rather than report to the minor league club.

Astro manager Grady Hatton said Gentile is "a bad influence" on the National League club and "he's not going to play for me."

Gentile, 32, was informed of the decision Sunday night shortly after he was kicked out of the game between Houston and Chicago Cubs for tossing his hat toward plate umpire Ed Vargo.

"It looks like this is it," Gentile said. "I'm going home. His home is in Castro Valley, Calif."

Robinson & Rolinson Now the Leading Firm In American League

They may not be as spectacular as Mantle and Maris when they hit 115 home runs for New York Yankees in 1961 but there is a new baseball firm in business which is proving just as effective.

It's Robinson and Rolinson, their shop is in Baltimore and the stock of their Orioles is going up every day.

They had themselves quite a busy weekend, doing gobs of business both Sunday and yesterday after a good Saturday.

On Sunday, Brooks Robinson batted in two runs for an American League-leading total of 48 and Frank Robinson took the league lead in home runs with 15 as the Orioles stayed tied for the lead with an 8-1 victory over Boston Red Sox.

Last night, Frank hit his 16th home run with two mates aboard and Brooks followed with a two-run homer as the Orioles regained the lead with an 8-0 romp over New York Yankees. Cleveland Indians were rained out and slipped to second place.

Detroit's third-place Tigers stayed just two games in arrears by losing out Washington Senators, 4-3, but the defending-champion Minnesota Twins, in fourth place, and the California Angels now in sixth place, both lost ground.

Both had to settle for doubleheader splits. The Twins beat the improving Kansas City Athletics in the second game, 6-1, after losing the opener, 2-3.

It was the same path for the Angels, who won the afterpiece, 2-1, after taking a 3-1 beating.

Frank Malone won the second game by hitting a fifth-inning homer and scoring the winning run in the ninth after Jack Lamabe had continued his great pitching for the White Sox in the opener.

In the National League, only the Dodgers in the closely-bunched group lost. And defeat cost them the league lead.

San Francisco Giants regained the lead in weekend action by defeating the Dodgers, 3-2, Sunday and following up yesterday with an 8-0 win over Chicago Cubs while the Dodgers lost in 11 innings, 6-3, to Houston Astros.

Pitching was the San Francisco strength. Gaylord Perry, out with injuries since May 24, returned yesterday to pitch seven shutout innings. On Sunday, Juan Marichal won his 11th game, yielding only to Jim LeFebvre and Lou Johnson, who got the Dodger runs with homers.

A three-run eighth-inning homer by Roberto Clemente gave the Pirates a 5-4 win over the outlucked Cincinnati Reds. The Phillies got steady pitching and timely hitting, by Jack Brandt in the first game and Clay Dalrymple in the second, to take a 1-0 first from Atlanta Braves, 6-2 and 5-4.

Rodgers Grabs Lead

Chunky Phil Rodgers, the year for winning the Doral Open, boosted his tournament earnings to $57,574.64.

Rodgers, who opened by sharing the first-round lead with a 70 and then fell four strokes back Saturday with a 73, played amazingly steady golf for 72-70 in Sunday's two rounds for a 284 total which beat Johnny Pott's one he collected earlier in strokes.

Pott led after the third round by one stroke with Fred Marti, Rodgers and Tony Lema, who didn't miss by much in his try to overcome an opening 78, right behind.

Lema went ahead early in the final round but Rodgers caught up on the eighth hole and went ahead to stay with a birdie on the ninth.

Marti and Lema shared fourth place with 287s. Then came Jay Herbert and Steve Spray at 288, Arnie Palmer and Doug Sanders at 289 and Al Geibinger and Tom Westkopf at 290.

BO BELINSKY, who had asked to be traded or sent to a minor league got his wish Monday. Philadelphia Phillies shipped the erratic left-hander to their San Diego farm club in the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

He left with an 0-2 record... manager Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles yesterday solved two problems when he traded second-baseman Jerry Adair to Chicago White Sox for relief-pitcher Eddie Fisher. The move gives the Orioles a needed bullpen artist and alleviated the conflict between Bauer and Adair.

San Francisco Giants have sent outfielder Jesus Alou, who was batting only .222, to their PCL farm club in Phoenix and replaced him with catcher-outfielder Dick Dietz, a $30,000 bonus baby who was hitting .348 at Phoenix.

BRAZIL, winner of the World Cup soccer championship for the last two years, has been established a 7-4 favorite to take the title a third time. England was a 5-1 second choice for the event, which is scheduled in England, July 11-30.

France and Brazil have reached the final of the European zone Davis Cup tennis playoffs. They meet in Paris, July 15-17, with the winner taking on the victor of the United States-Mexico series... Glasgow Celtic defeated Mexico City, 1-0, in an international soccer match in Los Angeles Sunday.

Mike Wright, building her lead in each round and finishing with a 54-hole total of 210, Sunday won the Bluegrass Invitational golf tournament in Louisville. Sandra Hanle and Kathy Whitworth were next at 220.

ALEX FAULKNER, the only Newfoundland to ever play in the National Hockey League, plans to return to professional hockey after being invited to attend the Detroit training camp.

Red Laver won the $30,000 professional tennis tournament in Forest Hills Sunday by defeating Ken Rosewall, 31-29. Laver was unbeaten in 10 round-robin matches... San Diego Chargers of the American Football League will get and Willie Frazer and defensive back Pete Jacques from Houston Oilers to compensate for the Houston signing of tackle Ernie Ladd.

Mario Andreoli drove to victory Sunday in the 30th running of the Langhorne (Pa.) Speedway's 100-mile national championship for Indianapolis-type cars.

St. Louis Cardinals hope to have first-baseman Orlando Cepeda back in action within two weeks. It had been feared that he would be lost for the season after a battered left struck him on the right eye last week.

Tottenham Hotspur spoiled the departure of Mexico's World Cup soccer team Sunday with a 1-0 win before 75,000 Mexico City fans... Brazil's World Cup team defeated Yugoslavia in another international match Sunday, winning, 2-1, before 82,000 fans in Rio De Janeiro... outfielder Adolfo Phillips of the Chicago Cubs set a major-league baseball record Saturday by striking out for the eighth and ninth straight times... Ed Rasmbeck, 34-year-old relief pitcher, has been recalled from San Diego by Philadelphia Phillies.

One Trophy for United

Cricket Lead Won By Cowichan Club

	P	W	L	D	Pts
Cowichan	4	3	0	1	17
Colts	4	2	1	1	11
Albion	4	1	2	1	7
Seaside	4	1	2	1	7
Albion	4	0	3	1	3

Sunday's results: Cowichan defeated Albion by eight wickets, losing defeated Seaside by 10 runs.

Next matches: Saturday — Albion vs. Cowichan, 2:15 p.m., Beach Hill Park.

Cowichan's good bowling and steady fielding carried it to an easy eight-wicket victory over Albion and first place in the Victoria and District Cricket Association Sunday.

Jim Longridge took five wickets for 15 runs and Alastair Murray took four for nine as Cowichan retired the Albion for 43 runs at Windsor Park. John Shearer hit for 22 runs, not out, to lead Cowichan's 44-run reply for two wickets.

The victory gave Cowichan 22 points and put it five points ahead of second-place, Castaways who lost their first match of the season Saturday to Oak Bay.

In Sunday's other match, Inco defeated Albion by 12 runs at the University School.

Bob Niven scored 42 runs in Inco's 88-run innings, and Reg Wenman took six wickets for 28 runs to help dismiss Albion for 76.

Victoria Loses Final But Stothard MVP

By ROBIN JEFFREY (Colonist Staff Writer)

VANCOUVER — "Nice guys finish last," the cynics will tell you. But don't believe it. Not while nice guys like Dave Stothard are still playing soccer.

Stothard and Victoria United didn't win the Top Star Trophy for the Pacific Coast Soccer League playoff championship here Sunday. They lost, 2-0, to Vancouver Columbus in a rough final at Callister Park.

But Stothard came back to Victoria with a pulled muscle, a bad headache—and the PCSL trophy for the most valuable player in the league.

It's the first time in the seven-year history of the award—voted on by Vancouver sports-writers—that it has come to Victoria. It went to the right man.

The tall, quiet Stothard was chosen to captain the B.C. All-stars against Tottenham last Wednesday, and his display Sunday showed why.

LACK SHARPNESS — Although United, which hadn't played for a month, lacked sharpness and never looked comfortable against the fast-inter-changing Columbus forwards, it was Stothard who was always calm and well-positioned in defence.

He pulled a muscle in his leg with about five minutes left in the first half, but he played the whole game. "Anybody else but Dave, we would have taken out," coach Frank Grealy said. "But you can't take him out."

Even with his bad leg, Stothard was United's lone defender when it was pressing to come back from the two-goal deficit. Later in the game, he received a bump on the head which left him dizzy.

GOALS DISALLOWED

And when a frenzied United saw a goal disallowed with about 18 minutes left in the game, it was Stothard who settled the team down and had them pressing although they had only 10 men—at the end.

United was trailing, 2-0, when referee Dan Kulai gave it a free-kick at the side of the Columbus penalty box. After a scrabbling situation, Bill Hamilton headed a flatter into the net from about eight yards.

United went wild. But Kulai disallowed the goal, and United went wilder. The referee ruled that Peter Gooding charged Peter Ahrend as the goalie went up for the ball. "There was no hesitation," the veteran official said later. "I was right there and Number 10 (Gooding) took out the goalie."

FUTILE CLAIM

United, however, claimed that Kulai indicated a goal and then changed his mind when Gooding came back from the two-goal deficit. Later in the game, he received a bump on the head which left him dizzy.

Moments later fullback Don McIntosh was sent off for swearing at Kulai, and posted the referee before leaving.

Columbus, however, deserved to win. Zanatta gave it a 1-0 lead at 21 minutes of the first half when Tony Quinn missed a clearance, and Bobby Smith got the second goal on an individual effort at 19 minutes of the second half. Victoria goalie Barry Sailer had to be brilliant on at least four other occasions.

LOOKS AHEAD

United manager Fred Magee was disappointed, but he was looking to next season—only three months away. The club will lose Gooding and Jim Jamieson (who hit the post and the bar Sunday), and may be without Tom Locke, Bert Soular, and Jim Schulz.

But Stothard will be back, and Magee knows that if the club brings up juniors, it couldn't show them a finer example of sportsmanship and ability than Dave Stothard.

Cup Winners

Lakehill's Jack Hobbs, Bert Hayes and Charlie Davies won the Malkin Cup men's triples lawn bowling competition Sunday by defeating Ernie Campbell, Bill Turner and Tom Smith of Burnside, 2-1, at Burnside.

Abortion Jails Montreal Man

MONTREAL (CP) — Self-styled psychoanalyst Andre LaRiviere, 47, was sentenced Monday to 20 years in prison for crimes of abortion, procuring and fraud.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Omer Cote who found LaRiviere guilty last month on charges of conspiracy, abortion, procuring for prostitution and fraud.

Evidence at the trial indicated that LaRiviere persuaded his 24-year-old secretary to have an

Key Session Opens

Disarmament Debate Near Crisis

GENEVA (UPI) — Britain's chief arms negotiator warned Monday the 17-nation disarmament talks have reached a "critical" stage.

Lord Chalfont, Britain's disarmament minister as well as chief negotiator, said that if no progress is made at the summer session opening Tuesday the future of the talks "will be very much at risk."

Chalfont arrived here Monday for the resumption of the talks after a six-week recess. The meeting will last through August.

BETTER WAY

"People will start querying the conference's usefulness and wonder if there is not some better way to discuss disarmament," he said.

Chalfont said the talks may have to concentrate on subjects other than banning the spread of nuclear weapons to nations that do not now have them.

Chalfont said accord on nuclear "non-proliferation" — banning the spread of nuclear arms — could not be reached until the West fixes its policy on nuclear sharing.

RUSSIAN STAND

The Soviet Union has steadfastly refused to negotiate on non-proliferation until the West promises to shelve all nuclear sharing plans.

Chalfont indicated the West may drop the non-proliferation question for the moment and concentrate on negotiating a treaty that would extend the partial test ban concluded in 1963 to cover underground tests.

This issue is also deadlocked, however, with the Russians rejecting any sort of on-site inspection. The West argues such inspection is essential to preclude cheating.

Officials conceded on the eve of the talks the continuing war in Viet Nam would make it difficult to initiate any concrete negotiations on new East-West agreements.

Observers believed the participants would likely spar during the session in an effort to keep the door open to such agreements as soon as a Viet Nam settlement appears likely.

Mistaken Identity Brings Suit

MONTREAL (CP) — A man charged with manslaughter last autumn through a case of mistaken identity has started proceedings in a $30,525 suit against the province of Quebec.

Berny J. Chartier filed a petition in Superior Court Monday seeking permission of the Crown to take action against it.

In the petition, Mr. Chartier says Wilfrid Dumont, 52, was assaulted July 11, 1965, and died the following day.

PRESSURE

Mr. Chartier says he was taken to provincial police headquarters a few days later and was not allowed to see his lawyer or wife. Later he was found criminally responsible for Dumont's death at a coroner's inquest.

He said considerable pressure was put on him by police to admit responsibility for the death.

On Nov. 5, John Paul Lariviere, who resembles Chartier, was arraigned for manslaughter and released on $2,000 bail. The same day Chartier was freed by the court.

Closer Link

LONDON (Reuters) — John Cardinal Heenan, leader of Britain's 5,000,000 Roman Catholics, formed a commission Monday to foster closer relations with British Jews.

Tend Plum Trees

By M. V. Cheasnut

At this time of the year, it pays hard-core dividends to give your plum trees a little extra attention. If the bees got in their licks during the blossoming period, and if the blossoms were properly pollinated, a bit of pampering now can make all the difference between a crop of fat, luscious plums and scrawny fruit like a bargain chicken, all bones and no flesh.

Plum trees are hounds for nitrogen; they prefer deep soil rich in nutrients, and they tend to suffer severely when starved on shallow ground or when they lack moisture at the roots. Especially when grown against a wall, plums will need a generous soaking at least once a week throughout the summer, for a wall offers a surprising degree of shelter from the rain, and soil at its foot is invariably drier than in the open.

When plums are suffering from a lack of nitrogen, they will often develop symptoms similar in appearance to the dreaded Silver Leaf disease, and the foliage turns pale and silvery, just as in the true infection. There is no known cure for the real thing, but there is a simple test which will indicate whether the silvery foliage is due to infection or to simple malnutrition.

Select an expendable branch which is showing silvery-foliage, cut off about one quarter of its length, then make a careful examination of the heart wood. If there is a brown stain running down through the center of the branch, the tree—or at least that particular branch—is infected with the true Silver Leaf disease.

All infected branches should be taken off, a foot or two at a time, until clean, uninfected wood is reached. The pruning tools should be dipped in a bucket of disinfectant between cuts to avoid spreading the infection, and the cut ends should be sealed with Tree Wound Dressing or with grafting wax.

In the case of False Silver Leaf, where no stain is found in the wood, the trouble can be corrected by feeding heavily with any nitrogenous fertilizer. Ammonium sulphate is as good and as cheap as any, and can be applied at the rate of one cupful per square yard evenly over the whole rooting area, preferably dissolved in water first for faster action, about one-half cupful per gallon. The variety Victoria is especially susceptible to this False Silver Leaf, particularly if the tree bore an exceptionally heavy crop the previous year.

If your plum tree is naturally somewhat upright in its habit of growth, it is a good idea to open up the center to let in sunlight and air by cutting away any branches or side shoots which are growing across or toward the center.

On the other hand, some varieties are spreading and drooping in their growth habit, and their branches tend to sag badly when carrying a heavy crop. That excellent English plum, Victoria, is a notorious drooper. With these, it is wise to prune back the thin, whippy tips of the branches to stronger, thicker wood, and to an upward-facing side shoot or bud.

It is far safer to trim and prune plums in summer than in winter. With winter pruning, there is always the danger that open wounds will become infected with the spores of Silver Leaf, which are carried over on dead and fallen twigs and branches. These disease spores are not active in summer, nevertheless it is only good garden hygiene to rake up and burn all the prunings.

STAN DELAPLANE Man in Distress

Home Disaster Area

Sunny days around our suburban scatter. "It takes a heap of living to make a house a home," said the poet. It takes a heap of people to hold a house together. The pest control man came this morning. He pattered around under the house and came out and said: "You've got some kind of plumbing leak down there."

I said: "What do I care about down there? You should see the leak we've got in the bathroom."

He said: "Well, it's getting into the wood, and the foundations might collapse. I thought I'd tell you."

My personal foundations are collapsing daily, confound it. (However, the mortgage is as good as new.)

Mending the plumbing is a chancy business. Plumbers around here got themselves a raise lately.

If they only come for a minute and LOOK at the leak, you pay for one hour.

I figure we have about 45 minutes worth of leak now. I am waiting for a 15-minute leak for our money's worth. But if we spring say a 20-minute leak we get into the second hour.

It's a gamble. Meanwhile, things are getting pretty soggy.

Once I went into soft water to save money. A soft water man came around and figured on the back of an envelope. "Figures don't lie," he said. "Less soap, more lather. You save the cost of soft water in soap."

He put in the soft water tank and it was a lease basis. Well, I don't know whether it saved soap. But it certainly made soap work for a living.

We soaped up in the shower. Rinsed it off. Only it didn't rinse off. Just kept on bubbling and lathering. It was like a champagne aftermath. Every time you put water on yourself, you gave off clouds of bubbles.

Consequently, everything got more rinsing. Us and the dishes.

The water bill went up tremendously.

The garden needs attention—and gardeners cost a pretty penny. You can get the most expensive blooms from the nursery. Put them in vitamin-enriched soil. And they curl up and die miserably.

A couple of doors are beginning to warp. Why should a door—nicely treated, seldom slammed—change its shape? It is one of life's mysteries.

How can a rust-proof screen begin to rust?

How can a mere child tear the rabbit ears antenna off a TV set with one hand?

Why does a vacuum cleaner stop sucking in dust and start blowing it out?

How come a dishwasher changes its cycle? Starts drying first and covering everything with soap suds last?

Our scatter is complex. It supports a large community industry. If I closed down, the economy would fall apart. A house is like war. You never know where your reserves will be called next.

The agonizing reappraisal: "If we fix the record player, can we get a new top for the incinerator?"

The backyard emergency: "Johnny broke the swing again!"

The hand-to-hand combat: "What took the pliers?"

The night patrol: "Do you smell something strange? Like smoke?"

The armistice: "Call the repair people."

There should be some sort of federal aid for my program. I am fighting inflation by being deflated. I am a patriot. Help!

SYDNEY HARRIS

Awful Handyman

Some years ago, an enterprising chap wrote The Poor Speller's Dictionary, in which the most commonly misspelled words were not only listed with their correct spellings but under the most common misspellings as well. For, obviously, if you don't know how to spell a word properly, you can't look it up in its proper place in an ordinary dictionary.

Pursuing this sensible line of reasoning, Harper & Row, the book publishers, include in their fall list of new books something called The Awful Handyman's Book, by George Daniels, which is exactly what I have been looking for vainly all these years.

This is a guide for the inept home repairman, like me, who is absolutely floored by the average do-it-yourself handyman book. Daniels' opus, we are told, "assumes both ignorance and incompetence on the reader's part"—an assumption I humbly accept, and even embrace.

When I bought a house in the country some years ago, I thought it was time to overcome my vast ineptitude in the matter of repairs, and I ambled down to the local hardware store to buy a tool-chest. I examined one on display, and returned home empty-handed.

Asked by my family why I hadn't bought one, I hedged and stalled, and finally admitted in acute embarrassment that I hadn't even looked inside the tool-chest—because I couldn't figure out how to get it open, and was too ashamed to ask the clerk to open it for me.

I then decided that a man who couldn't even work the catch on the outside of a tool-chest had no business fooling around with the possibly fatal instruments inside.

Most books on the subject of home repairs are filled with a kind of masochistic arrogance that, after two pages, makes me feel like a stuttery school-girl. They describe a job as "simple" that would take me seven years to finish, and then would be recognizable only as the finished product of a somewhat retarded chimpanzee.

Moreover, they never bother to explain the purposes and uses of a lot of tools, simply saying, "Now you take the No. 2 flammern and grasping a lockplate with an involuted dowel, you proceed to drill precisely 3 1/4 inches through the A-beam illustrated in Plate 34."

By that time, I'm at the infirmary with two smashed fingers, and my children have been exposed to a richer and more colorful vocabulary than an army recruit.

The Awful Handyman's Book may be just the thing millions of us are looking for, an easy primer saying "This is a Hammer," and "Here is a Screw." The trouble is, those other books never start with the fundamentals—beginning, of course, with How To Open the Catch On A Tool-Chest.

Tension Causes Switch?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — No one seems to know why Ingmar Bergman's favorite movie actress, Harriet Andersson, crashed out of Grand Prix, the James Garner racing epic. But everyone should know by now that Eva Marie Saint has replaced her. Auto pictures cause tension and frayed nerves, what with all the screeching tires and catapulting cars.

The eyebrows are raised when Guy Stockwell, star of the Beau Geste remake, states that he wants to play Othello. Guy reminds the mockers that he has already played Hamlet, and that Richard Burton was a boy of 26 when he first essayed the melancholy Dane.

You've heard of cars being equipped with stereo, a telephone, television, and a bar... but Sammy Davis Jr. has taken these luxuries a step further. He has all of these lovely things in his golf cart at Las Vegas. With eight inches of space at the back for his clubs. Sammy can tape a show, watch television, make a call, and down a drink between holes.

Red Buttons is finally sure that he does not want to live in Manhattan, and he is looking for a buyer for his plush apartment there. Red and his wife and their baby are now living in a lush pad in the most exclusive section of Bel Air.

Charlie Chaplin took The Countess from Hong Kong to his home in Switzerland where he is busily snipping to bring the film to standard size. He has a piano in his projection room there, and scores as he studies what is on the screen.

Tony Perkins is starring in Scandale for Universal, somewhere in France. I'm glad someone had the sense to give him a good movie.

There will be no returning to Switzerland for Mrs. William Holden. The attractive lady we knew on the screen as Brenda Marshall has decided she will live permanently in California. She always liked it here, but lived abroad in deference to William's desire. Their son, West, is a member of the Pasadena Playhouse where Bill learned his acting trade in the 40's. Perhaps I should say "was," because there seems to be some question of the famed theatre, where so many stars received their early training, closing down through lack of funds.

Barbra Streisand writes that she has the same apartment in the swanky Belgravia section where Cary Grant lived, and from which he would send his chauffeur to the nearest poor section for fish 'n' chips. This is how the rich live, my dear. Barbra is having a nursery prepared in her big penthouse on Central Park West. I wonder if she will feed the expected infant, when it arrives of course, with her favorite food—caviar? I have seen her polish off a two-pound tin for lunch—what is it, $42 a pound?

Tony Quinn between pictures and fatherhood — three now with Johanna — has been trying to sandwich some time in between to make a movie with Mexican star Cantinfla, who is pawing the ground, impatient to get the go signal. I expected it to be a bullfighting epic — but it's a western titled, tentatively, Gun Crazy.

Jones Act

Canadian Ferry Trip Brings Truck Seizure

JUNEAU (AP) — The U.S. Bureau of Customs has made what it calls "constructive seizure" of a trailer loaded with cement pending determination of possible violation of American law.

Customs collector Joseph Bailey said the procedure used Saturday when the vehicle arrived at the terminal aboard a southeast Alaska ferry is not unusual.

He said it enables a shipment to be left in possession of the consignee but gives the bureau a measure of jurisdiction over it.

Fine of $500 Levied in Sooke

John Nelson, of Port Angeles, was fined $500 in Sooke court after pleading guilty to contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Nelson and a juvenile girl were stopped by Victoria policemen as they were about to board the Port Angeles ferry June 9.

Mr. Bailey said duty had been paid on the cement by Juneau contractor Don Hurlock, but the transportation of the tank trailer by Canadian ferry during its trip north is being investigated.

He emphasized no determination has been made as yet that the shipment violated the provision of the Jones Act which bars American shippers from using foreign vessels to transport cargo between American ports.

Draft-Dodging Dispute

Calls Left Bitter Taste

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Haunting accusations of "We hate Canadians" and "We Americans don't need you" have left a bitter taste in the mouth of a Vancouver mother whose son was accused of dodging the U.S. draft.

Mrs. Leonard Briscoe Monday angrily dismissed a suggestion from Ottawa that she, or her son, write American authorities, and "explain" the confusion surrounding her 19-year-old son's case.

"That would, in effect, be an admission of having done something wrong," exclaimed Mr. Briscoe. "We did nothing wrong, in my opinion, it is they (the U.S. government) that owes us something."

Young Glyn Briscoe had gone to the U.S. in 1961 with his family. He was 17 at the time, and returned to Canada before he was 19.

Unfortunately for Glyn, his 18th birthday came along during the time he was a legal resident of the U.S. His name fell into a computer, listing him as an eligible candidate for Uncle Sam's army.

But the computer didn't push Briscoe's name to the top of the list until three years after he'd returned to Canada.

A Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in the town of Bellingham, Wash., was dispatched to the Canadian city to look into the case. He was given information the Briscoe boy was a draft dodger.

"When he came to the door and told me 'I want your son,' I asked him what he was talking about," recalled Mrs. Briscoe.

"When he told me he wanted him for the army, I told him you've already had him (a second Briscoe boy, Allan, volunteered and served in the U.S. for three years when he was 24)."

When the FBI further attempted to pursue the issue, Mrs. Briscoe took her story to the newspapers and radio.

That's when the callous accusations began, recalled Mrs. Briscoe.

"Anonymous calls from Seattle, Bellingham, and other American cities. They'd say 'Stay out of our lives,' then hang up."

Canadian and American government officials were drawn into the hassle.

The FBI agent, Alfred Gunn, who had served nine years in Bellingham, suddenly was transferred to a new post in Houston, Texas.

T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party in Canada, took up the challenge. He visited the Briscoe home, which falls in his constituency, and promised to take the matter to the highest authorities.

Last week Mrs. Briscoe received from Mr. Douglas the copy of a typewritten letter, on House of Commons stationery, signed by the writer's first name, only — "Paul."

It suggested the Briscoes should write the U.S. authorities, explaining what had happened.

"I don't intend writing anyone, and in effect saying we were naive and wrong," said Mrs. Briscoe.

Mrs. Briscoe believes she is fighting a battle of principles, affecting all former American aliens who have since left the U.S. but were 18 before they left.

"I don't think my son has any particular ambitions to go back to the United States. We were all treated as aliens while we were there, and they didn't let us forget it."

"Until you get American citizenship, there are many things to which you're not entitled. How could we have been expected to hold any allegiance to the States?" she queried.

Ironically, the Briscoes, Mr.

and Mrs. and their three children, are British subjects, not Canadians.

They were born in Shropshire, England, and came to Canada in 1957.

"But we love Canada, and we're going to become Canadian citizens," she added.

Savings grow 50% faster at NORTH WEST TRUST

Work it out for yourself. Because our interest rates are half as much again as most savings institutions - 4½% compared to 3% - your savings grow 50% faster at North West Trust. It takes other institutions eighteen months to pay the interest we return in one year. Add to that our free chequing privileges on current accounts and the fact that we pay 4½% on both Savings and Current Accounts and you'll understand why so many people are switching to Western Canada's Leading Trust Company. Capt. Myrtle Ledger offers Gourmet Thomas sample.

Canaries Feed Gruff Dads

By WILLIAM THOMAS
Gourmet Report

I like two things, music and food, so I get to go to the concerts and to gourmet dinners, for the newspaper.

But if you think it's all bisque de homard, tournedos rossini, bombe jubilee and stuff of that ilk, then you should have been out Sunday when we tried a real change of fare.

PHONES DOWN
It's a safe bet there is not a single member of Les Amities Gastronomiques Internationales who has ever eaten Potage hamburger de Troisième Canari, or Sommeuses Chauds Flambees.

Now if you are ready to phone the SPCA about the Canary bit then wait just a minute.

The Canaries are not those yellow birds you had in mind. It would take hundreds of those to make a decent mess of potage.

These Canaries were from the third company, Victoria Girl Guides. They held their first cookout for fathers Sunday afternoon at Camp Jubilee.

RENT-A-DAD

It's worth adding that this is not a bit of paternal pride, for really I was there as a proxy dad for a Guide whose own fatherfamily was a way on business. There might be a good business here for those who are too busy, bored or just don't care about their kids. Why not start a Rent-a-Dad service?

SHIRK WORK

Now our party was long on cookout skills but short on map-reading, so it took us an extra half hour to find Camp Jubilee. Those who arrived early suggested we only wanted to avoid wood-gathering and other chores.

Leader Myrtle Ledger assured us that all dads were required to do was play games and amuse themselves. In no time flat, most dads were busy at the skillet.

As the first whiff of smoke curled into the air and the miscellaneous dads started to cough and splutter, memories came flooding back to those old days when I bared my knees for the Peevit Patrol.

Potage Burger Hits Spot

(This was probably the most outstanding unit of Cubs ever assembled in Cheshire. I speak as unofficial acting assistant to the second-in-command of that worthy patrol and can without fear of contradiction say we were the finest firefighters around at the time.)

(The sight of that merry Peevit pennant flying from the top of a Cub pole was enough to strike terror into the heart of any farmer with a haystack.)

HOW BROWN BROWN?

But enough of this reminiscing and back to the recipes. Potage hamburger is prepared by browning ground meat in the bottom of a deep stew kettle. This stage of preparation is usually the subject for intense debate among the 11-to-15-year-old cooks.

No one is quite sure just how brown brown really is, and as any Girl Guide knows, this is the key to the color of the final product.

Dads were called in for consultation at this stage, and a depth-of-brown chart was arrived at by impromptu debate.

To avoid tears, onions were prepared at home and just dumped in at the right time.

We did happen on one interesting variant of the original potage formula which my old friend, Chef Peter Beck, might be interested in.

Should one add the water from the canned peas directly into the brew, or should one strain the peas and add creek water to taste?

We compromised. Some groups added water and some used the pea nectar. This made for a varying consistency, from soupy to a melange that closely resembled shepherd's pie.

By this stage most dads had given up their long-cherished hopes of a few friendly games on the green sward and were really involved in the gourmet do-it-yourself drive.

Meanwhile, we were all under the eagle-eyed supervision of Capt. Myrtle Ledger and Guide Area Commissioner Peggy McKeever.

It did take a long time for the food to cook, but possibly this is the magic that went into the pot. By the time we did get at the stew we were really hungry. Many dads had forgone breakfast for the treat.

As gourmet correspondent, I felt obliged to defy my ulcer and tried a spoonful here and there from various pots. They were uniformly delicious. The crisp French bread heated over the fire was superb. Swilled down with coffee and canned fruit punch, it made a feast fit for a king.

It was at this stage we enjoyed the spectacle of seeing that other dish I mentioned earlier prepared. Somewhere, a delight fit to knock the sweet tooth right out of your mouth.

Here is the recipe:

Take two large chunks of ham cracker and have them ready to receive two well-toasted marshmallows. (We did run into a couple of incidents when they caught fire, but care and long practice will remove this hazard.) You will also need a couple of squares of your favorite chocolate. Slap the gooey marshmallow in one cracker and press in the bits of chocolate, and top off with the other cracker. Then try to eat this like a lady. If you are a Girl Guide.

CARES OF GOO

I had to look away when one Guide leader started her fourth attack on one of these confections.

After this, the dads helped clean up. There they were in the creek washing pots and generally resting in the way.

All in all it was a memorable afternoon. I might add that the music was a problem.

Campfire sing-songs are great entertainers, but the voices of gruff old dads hardly blend in with the key chosen for Girl Guides.

What how all this to do with Guide training? I choose to ignore what Capt. Ledger says, and put it all down to a special course Guides are offering for the girls to make them happier in later life.

Chief Librarian Denies Squabbling by Board

There is no squabbling among members of the Greater Victoria Library Board, chief librarian John Lort stated emphatically Monday.

Referring to a published statement by former member of the Vancouver Island Regional Library Board, Frank Boulter of Langford, the library chief said:

"Mr. Boulter is absolutely wrong in his claim that there are always arguments among members of our board.

"During discussions, controversial points will arise, but this could not in any way be classed as squabbling. We are a very harmonious board."

Mr. Boulter had contrasted the financing arrangements between the two library boards. He observed that Victoria charges on the proportion of books taken, as opposed to the per-capita system of the regional library.

"If Mr. Boulter had been reading the newspapers lately, he couldn't have failed to notice that a new library agreement is under discussion."

The Langford resident had taken issue with the allegation in a report by the public library research study that there were no librarians in the schools.

He had suggested there were many teachers who were also qualified librarians and could be used to fill the bill.

"This is not a new suggestion," snapped Mr. Lort. "But very few school boards have adopted it."

St. Andrew's Cathedral Glee Club will present a variety concert at 8:15 p.m. tonight in St. Ann's Academy auditorium, with two dances by the Polish dancers. Proceeds go to St. Ann's building fund.

Tory Meeting Told

Education Tops Priority List

Education is the first priority for the future, Rev. Clifford Waite told a meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association Saturday.

Mr. Waite was a member of a panel examining priorities in social legislation. Also on the panel were Mrs. Monica Coombs, president of the B.C. division, Consumers' Association of Canada; John Wallace, former president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, and Allan Bayliss, chairman of the legislative committee of the Victoria Labor Council.

CONTINUING

"We all seemed to agree that education is the first priority," Mr. Waite said Monday. "Not just university education, but continuing education in the upgrading and retraining of workers. This would bring a direct return to the economy."

He pointed out that low-cost housing should also be given priority.

"Canada now needs 250,000 units," he said. "Many people don't know that 15 per cent of Canadian houses don't have indoor toilets and 30 per cent don't have running water."

"We could go on and on plotting a great Utopia, but how are we going to pay for it?"

"If we continue at the present

National Centennial Conferences

A Necessary 'Brainwashing'

Complaints that the national centennial conference is a waste of public money were heard today at the semi-annual meeting in Victoria.

But Centennial Commission officials replied that the 60 members of the conference can do a much-needed selling job for the centennial in the next six months.

A spokesman admitted in an interview later that the conferences have become a "brainwashing job," but he added that they do get members involved.

LOCAL EFFECT

This indirect but important effect showed when they returned to their cities and towns, he said.

The conference, which has met seven times, was formed in 1963 as an advisory body to the federal government. Its meetings are paid for by the Centennial Commission, a federal agency.

Mr. Justice Alfred Monnin of the Manitoba Supreme Court led off a panel discussion on the worth of the conferences.

Mr. Justice Monnin said the one who pays for labor-management unrest is increased prices.

"Labor-management strife should be a priority in social legislation," he said.

JOB RETRAINING

Mr. Wallace said the government should clean up the existing backlog of legislation before considering any priorities.

Mr. Bayliss suggested a supplementary family allowance to be used for job retraining, as a priority in social legislation.

Hearing Set On Break-Ins

NANAIMO — Allan Verner Forsberg, 32, of Port Alberni has elected trial by judge and jury on seven counts of breaking and entering.

Preliminary hearing has been set for July 19. Magistrate Eric Winch set bail at $3,500 on the first charge and $100 each on the remainder.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months. This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Four-Masted Ship Japanese Visitor

The Japanese transportation ministry's training ship Kaio Maru took on the pilot of Brochle Ledge at midnight Monday and is now anchored off Royal Roads.

The four-masted sailing ship, which visited here last in June, 1963, will spend the next few days at anchor while her 90 cadets, 47 crew and 19 officers get her ready for a visit to Vancouver.

She'll be guest of the sea festival there and will lead a flotilla of yachts under the Lion's Gate Bridge at 3:15 p.m. Saturday.

This morning a representative of Pacific Marine Command at Esquimalt will greet the ship at anchor, a navy spokesman said.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace has invited the Japanese government to send a training ship to Victoria next year during 1967 Centennial celebrations.

Can a gentleman find happiness with Old Style Beer?

A very important question. Better consider it slowly and thoughtfully - over a glass of Old Style. While you're meditating, note the flavour. Bold, forthright. Yet there's nothing rough about it, is there? On the contrary, natural aging has made it mellow and mature. Gentle, in fact. That's it! Suddenly, the answer is clear and you realize... you're happy. This calls for another Old Style!

Sex Misuse 'Costly'

DUBLIN (AP) — An eminent Irish professor says sex beyond the begetting of children can lead to a host of ills, including cancer. A group of Dublin gynecologists disputed him.

Dr. J. K. Burns, professor of physiology at University College, Galway, said in a statement:

"Use of the reproductive act, apart from its intended purpose of procreation, can be expected, on a biological and medical basis, to cause an increase in the incidence of congenital stress, infective and malignant diseases."

"It is misuse is bound to affect future generations as well as individuals and communities now living."

A number of Dublin gynecologists disputed the claim, saying no responsible person had ever advanced such a view. They demanded in a letter to Irish newspapers that the professor make public the proof of his statement.

Dr. Burns had said he was issuing his statement because view has never before been an exposition, by Professor the Roman Catholic Church advanced by any responsible Burns of the research which has appears to be wavering in its attitude towards birth control.

BIRTH CONTRAL.

The Vatican Council's commission on birth control is studying the question of the church's attitude towards birth control.

Dr. Burns said his years of study of hormones and their effect on resistance to disease have convinced him that the sex act must be confined to reproduction alone.

Sex solely for pleasure "leads to the development of offspring with congenital diseases; produces more liberation of steroids, which lessen resistance to infection; and promotes a hormone imbalance which is conducive to the development of cancer."

"ABNORMAL CELLS"

"It is well known medically that over-indulgence in the reproductive process, associated with over-activity of the germ-forming organs, leads to the formation of more and more abnormal germ cells."

"These cause development of abnormal individuals . . ."

"Reproductive over-indulgence associated with increased steroid release must lead to a 'stress reaction, similar to that produced by cortisone with a diminution of resistance.'"

"NEVER ADVANCED"

"Steroid hormone imbalance is well known to play an important part in susceptibility to cancer."

The gynecologists said in their open letter:

"So far as we are aware, this

Datsun shoots for second spot in automobile imports

The Datsun sedan, which last year climbed into 4th place among the top ten U.S. auto imports, has set its sights on the number two spot.

The statement quoted in a recent interview in the authoritative "Automotive News" comes from Mr. Soichi Kawasoe, Executive Vice President of Nissan Motor Corp. in the United States. Mr. Kawasoe pointed to a 54% gain in the company's total U.S. vehicle sales during 1965.

For 1966 he looked forward to a further 20% increase in Datsun registrations, boosting overall U.S. sales from 23,000 units to approximately 30,000. The popular Datsun Pick-Up already leads the field among all commercial vehicle imports to that country.

Elsewhere, Datsun continues to forge ahead on a wide front. It has reached second place in popularity among all automobiles in Finland and is making rapid strides in Australia and throughout Latin America. In Carmichael, Mexico a new Datsun assembly plant has just been opened with an initial production target of 6600 vehicles annually. Other Nissan-Datsun assembly plants are located in Chile and Peru. Such widely separated countries as Thailand and India are major import markets for this world-leading compact.

Datsun's progress in Canada shows similar growth. Dealerships have more than doubled in the last 12 months. Parts depots have been established in Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal. Canadian Datsun sales in 1966 are expected to double the figure reached last year.

Indian Train Crash Kills 52, Injures 106

BOMBAY, India (UPI)—One of the worst train crashes in India's history slammed at least 52 lives and injured 106 Monday. Officials ordered an immediate investigation of the collision of two suburban trains in driving rain on an automated section of track near here.

An estimated 2,500 passengers—most of them school children and workmen—were aboard the two trains when the collision occurred at a grade crossing nine miles from Bombay.

Bride Won

Love Rides Ocean

LONDON (CP) — A marriage proposal from a beautiful Canadian that floated across the Atlantic on its way to the United States has been accepted nearly a year after it was sent, says the British housewife who played the role of cupid.

Alan Ruffman, a student at Dalhousie University in Halifax, too shy to pop the question directly, put his proposal in a rum bottle and dropped it from a ship in Hudson Bay.

Eleven months later Elizabeth Singleton, wife of a Birmingham, England, architect, found it on the coast of Cornwall.

She sent it on to its destination — Linda Christiansen, a student at Columbia University in New York.

Monday Mrs. Singleton got letters from Alan and Linda saying they are going to be married.

"How wonderful to find people so romantic," she said. "It has been very exciting playing cupid."

Linda wrote: "I had the surprise of my life when I read your letter and Alan's proposal. I wired to say yes and flew 500 miles to join him."

Alan wrote: "I was studying the effects of earthquakes during tests on board ship when I dropped the message overboard on June 26, 1965."

"I told Linda I tossed a bottle into the sea last summer. But I kept the message to myself."

Killer Storm Slams Colony

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A big relief effort was mounted Monday after a weekend of floods and landslides in this British colony claimed at least 44 lives.

Broken families scrambled in the mud and rocks for some sign of the dozens of missing in the worst natural catastrophe to hit the colony in years.

Swollen torrents bursting from their valley beds by torrential rains have buried and battered the frail shanties that house many of Hong Kong's densely-packed 4,000,000 people.

A woman returned to her family's hillside hut to find only a heap of slimy rock. Firemen later dug out her husband's body, but her children were gone.

It still was raining Monday, with fore-casters predicting more to come. Soil and rock loosened by the weekend down-pour were poised for new landslides.

City life was chaotic, with streets deep in mud and cars piled together. Electricity, water and gas supplies were running out in some areas and several major road and rail links were cut.

People were warned to stay indoors and schools and many offices were closed. The city hall fronting the harbor was flooded.

Vegetable prices soared as blocked routes and crop damage cut supplies.

U.S. Supreme Court Rules

Prisoner Must Agree To Be Interrogated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that police in the United States may not question a suspect if he is alone and "indicates in any manner that he does not wish to be interrogated."

Chief Justice Earl Warren, writing the nine-man court's main opinion, said the prosecution may not use damaging statements unless it is shown that safeguards were taken "to secure the privileges contained in the U.S. constitution against self-incrimination."

The ruling was given in four cases which grew out of the 1964 decision which extended the right to counsel to a suspect in a police station.

Justices John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White dissented in all four cases. Justice Tom C. Clark dissented in three cases and concurred with the majority in the fourth.

Warren said a defendant may waive his right to remain silent and to have a lawyer with him, "provided, the waiver is made voluntarily, knowingly and intelligently."

"If, however, he indicates in any manner and at any stage of the questioning process that he wishes to consult with an attorney before speaking, there can be no questioning," the chief justice declared.

"Likewise if the individual is alone and indicates in any manner that he does not wish to be interrogated, the police may not question him."

All Proposals But One

Concessions Won By Ferry Workers

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

B.C. ferry workers Monday won numerous concessions about a summer shift schedule dispute, when the provincial cabinet accepted all but one of the proposals brought in by a special labor-management committee.

However, the 1966 schedule which sparked the dispute—12 days on and three days off—will remain unchanged, as recommended earlier by the Civil Service Commission.

A ferry spokesman said the cabinet decision means that up to 44 more people will be hired as stewards and cooks' helpers on the two main routes between Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland.

Approved By Cabinet

The agreement was reached during a series of bargaining sessions and approved by a cabinet sub-committee before receiving executive approval. It will be submitted to crews at meetings today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Permanent personnel who stay through the summer schedule are to receive a 10-per-cent bonus of their basic wage for the summer, on the last payday in September.

The winter schedule is to be revised so that the workers will have five days on and two days off instead of 10 days on and four days off, as previously provided.

Wages Shared

An additional steward and cook's helper are to be hired for each shift on the two big runs between the Island and the mainland.

Also, if a ferry sails short-handed in any department, the wages of the missing people are to be paid pro rata to the other members of that department.

Not given formal cabinet approval was a clause, saying recognition should be granted for an organization which would represent the ferry workers in future negotiations.

Already Provided

Attorney General Bonner, chairman of the cabinet sub-committee, said this was already provided for in the Civil Service Act.

"It is further noted that Item 9, being a recommendation outside this committee's terms of reference is, nevertheless, a matter provided for in the Civil Service Act. It is accordingly received for such operation as it may have under statute."

Although cabinet agreed to pay a 10-per-cent bonus, the ferry workers will still receive a period of 21 days off during the winter season to compensate for the imbalance in the summer shift schedule, as agreed earlier.

"We're happy to have brought about such a radical change in our conditions," Norman Thornber, one of the employees' two representatives, said Monday night. "Our prime purpose was a solution, not a strike. I think this is a hell of a good solution."

IWA Negotiations Come to Halt

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) announced Monday that negotiations with coast forest companies have "ended" and no further talks are expected.

The union, bargaining for its 26,000 coast members, said industrial inquiry commissioner Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz would continue his efforts, however.

"Proposals for settlement of the dispute as prepared by the commissioner will be submitted to a membership referendum vote by secret ballot at the earliest possible date," the IWA said in a brief announcement.

It pledged, however, that despite strike notices already served on the companies there would be no strike before the judge submits his recommendations.

The IWA announced Saturday that it had served 48-hour strike notice on the companies. Sunday night Mr. Justice Nemetz said he was making "reasonable progress" in his talks with both sides.

The dispute involves wages. The union wants a 50-cent hourly increase on the present basic of $2.35. The company has sought a contract that would effectively outlaw wildcat strikes.

Longshoremen Accept Terms

OTTAWA (CP)—Representatives of the striking Quebec longshoremen voted early today to accept a compromise proposal by Prime Minister Pearson to settle the strike.

Mr. Pearson was expected to meet for the second time with representatives of the Shipping Federation of Canada in an effort to complete the settlement.

Norman Olson of the International Longshoremen's Association said the 19-man union delegation voted unanimously in favor of Mr. Pearson's formula for a settlement.

Mr. Pearson intervened personally in the dispute later Monday night after an apparent failure in mediation efforts by a cabinet committee and held personal talks separately with each side.

Aide To Join Airline Talks

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy minister of labor, will join negotiation talks between Air Canada and the sales employees association here today in an attempt to avert a strike set for Wednesday.

Never Feigned

Jury took 18 minutes Monday to find Jack Ruby, 35, legally sane, shortly after he took stand to announce: "Never at any time have I tried to make anyone believe that I was of unsound mind. I never tried to camouflage my mental capacities. Officials speculated appeal of Ruby's conviction for murder of Lee Harvey Oswald 2½ years ago now will be appealed. — (AP)"

'I Am Guilty of Nothing'

BITTER FULTON LETTER CONDEMNS JUDGE

Fulton

By FRASER KELLY

OTTAWA — The Munsinger time bomb exploded a second time as former justice minister E. Davie Fulton disclosed his refusal to appear before Mr. Justice Spence to answer allegations the judge apparently intends to make in his final report.

Mr. Fulton's letter to the judge, and an accompanying statement, constitute the most devastating attack ever delivered by a senior privy councillor against a member of the supreme court.

Mr. Justice Spence promised witnesses at the sex and security hearings he would notify them in advance if he intended to criticize them in his report.

He wrote Mr. Fulton June 7, outlining all the allegations commission counsel John O'Brien and Liberal lawyer Jack Campbell made in their summations. He did not detail any specific findings against the former justice minister.

REPLY HOT

In a white-hot, 11-page reply, Mr. Fulton wrote:

"It is astounding that a judicial commissioner could have adopted such an extraordinarily non-judicial attitude and written such an extraordinarily non-judicial letter."

RULING FORGOTTEN

"It is equally astounding that any commissioner could have written a letter that so completely disregards the ruling which he himself made in the course of the proceedings before him."

"These two features of your letter, taken together with all that went on during the inquiry, have the result that nothing in the world could or should induce me to appear before you again as it is obvious that no useful purpose would be served thereby."

He then proceeded to document the "falsity" of the judge's position.

POLITICS CHANGED

He described the inquiry as "purely political and destructive wrong in principle and a waste of time money and effort."

The heat of his reply dispelled all hope that the political passions aroused by the Munsinger affair have cooled off. The publication of the final report, probably later this month, is bound to touch off a political battle royal.

Monday Mr. Justice Spence said: "Girard, I care not what anybody writes to a newspaper about me and I'm not going to comment. I'm not concerned at all with what Mr. Fulton does in the press."

"Had he said he wanted a further hearing, one would have been arranged."

The judge wrote that if he had not received a reply from Mr. Fulton by Wednesday he would finish his report without further representations on behalf of the former justice minister.

BOO UNSAID

Mr. Justice Spence refused to confirm that he had written similar letters to Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, former Trade and Commerce Minister George Hees and former Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny.

A spokesman for Mr. Diefenbaker said: "I asked him (Diefenbaker) twice if he received a letter. He replied both times he had nothing to say. He wouldn't even say boo. I don't know if he got one or not."

HEES IN DARK

Mr. Hees said he had not seen any letter from the judge. "I was out west last week and then I was in Toronto getting a dental examination so I have not checked my mail."

"I presume that if my secretary got such a letter she would have told me about it. She hasn't mentioned it. So I just don't know," he said.

Boost For Roads

Premier Bennett announced Monday the government will increase its per capita grants to municipalities next year and earmark them for road-building purposes.

The next session of the legislature, he said, will increase the per capita grants, which total $24,000,000 this fiscal year, raise the homeowner grant again, and introduce the new home purchase grant, retroactive to April 1, 1966.

NOT RESTRICTED

The government will label the per capita grants as assistance toward road construction, although the municipalities may still continue to use the money for any purpose they desire, said the premier.

"This is not restricting them in any way—I want to make that clear. It is not telling them they have to spend it on the streets."

NO UPSET

He added the new classification of per-capita grants will not upset in any way the provincial government's existing cost-sharing agreement for construction of arterial roads.

The government is giving "more emphasis to education, social welfare and health than we are to roads now. . . . They called us the blacktop government, but it's funny how soon they change their tune," the premier said.

Club Members Hard at Work Rebuilding Bridge

Outdoorsmen Build High Cable Bridge

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Members of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association Sunday realized their own dream and the dreams of fishermen and hikers when they completed a suspension bridge across the Cowichan River at Skutumpah Falls, about 12 miles west of Duncan.

The 164-foot long and four-foot wide cable bridge spans a gap of the Cowichan River footpath about 60 feet above the stream.

FOOTPATH
At that time, decking was destroyed but Cowichan Fish and Game Association members were hopeful they could use the heavy, charred stringers as a link for their 23-mile long river footpath between Duncan and Lake Cowichan.

However, about a year later vandals struck again. They went to work with a power saw and dumped the stringers into the river, shattering hopes for a quick completion of the path.

Meanwhile, members of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association and the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association cleared half the length of the river path.

DONATIONS
Plans were made to jump the gap at Skutumpah Falls and the Cowichan Association decided to build the cable bridge.

Sunday's all-out effort was the result of lengthy negotiations, painstaking planning and asking for material donations.

Arnie Williams, resident of the Cowichan Association, said the provincial fish and game branch donated $190 for hardware, Macmillan-Boedel Ltd.'s Shawinigan division gave the steel cables, Western Forest Industries donated the lumber for the decking, North Cowichan Coun. George Whittaker made available his welding shop, George Highmore of Duncan brought up his drilling outfit to anchor heavy bolts and members of the Cowichan group donated countless hours of their time.

RIVER
Sunday, the team of 10 men under Mr. Williams' supervision pulled the heavy main cables across the river with a four-wheel drive vehicle, bolted the decking and erected the railing, making the bridge safe even for children.

Mr. Williams said: "Now I would like to see the footpath used by hikers, fishermen, scouts, cubs and members of the natural history society."

The path follows the river in its many different moods. Deep canyons spill white water into large clear pools and rolling wooded mountains far beyond frame many scenic views.

Group Planning Trip to Lake
The Victoria Lapidary and Mineral Society plans a trip to Fourth Lake, Nanaimo, for June 26. The society will meet at the Ivy Green Campsite at 10 a.m.

Big Trucks Crunch

Heavy Damage Caused In Island Accidents

DUNCAN—The collision Monday morning of two heavy trucks on winding Cowichan Lake Road sent one driver to hospital with a possible broken leg and caused $8,000 to $12,000 damage.

The scene, near Paldi, is about nine miles west of Duncan. Driver of a loaded Hearshey Transport chip truck, Martin Taylor of Duncan, is in satisfactory condition at hospital here.

The other truck involved belonged to Doman's Transport and was driven by Robert Richards of Duncan. He escaped injuries.

TRAFFIC DELAYED

Traffic was delayed. It is believed the empty west-bound tractor-trailer flat deck truck jackknifed on the wet surface of the road and ripped open the left side of the chip truck's cab.

The chip truck was proceeding toward Duncan at the time. Following the impact, the flat deck unit veered into a ditch and the chip truck remained upright on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bown of Mill Bay are in good condition at King's Daughters' Hospital after they were struck down Saturday by a car in a crosswalk at the Duncan shopping plaza.

Police said the driver was Janice A. Watson of Duncan. Meanwhile at Chemainus — Allan Swartz of Ladysmith was discharged from Ladysmith General Hospital after treatment for injuries he received in a four-car collision Sunday on the Trans-Canada Highway north of Henry Road.

The accident occurred when attempts were made to pull a car from a ditch. The driver of a third car smashed into the towed car and struck another approaching car.

WATER INJURED
Drivers involved were Gary Poffe of Duncan, Lyle Brown of Ladysmith, Robert Miller of Nanaimo and Mrs. Joan Purnell of Saltspring. Swartz was injured while watching the car being pulled from the ditch.

Police estimated the total damage at $900.

Also at Chemainus — James Jordan is in good condition in General Hospital here with unlisted injuries suffered when his car towed by another car went out of control and rolled into a ditch on the Trans-Canada Highway about one mile north of Henry Road Sunday.

The car which towed the Jordan vehicle was driven by Brian Goodings of Chemainus. Police estimated the damage at $600.

Nanaimo Mainland Air Link Opening

NANAIMO — Inaugural flight of a harbor-to-harbor service between Nanaimo and Vancouver will take place Wednesday.

Initial flight will take place at 9:30 a.m. and will include press, civil officials and representatives from the Chamber of Commerce.

Nanaimo Airlines Ltd. will be operating the service and company president Don McGillivray said the first flight will be met in Vancouver by Board of Trade representatives and the president of the Vancouver Tourist Association.

SCHEDULE
A reception will follow at the Dayshore Inn, which will be the mainland terminal.

Recently Nanaimo Airlines received permission from the Air Transport Board to operate the service, which will see flights leave Nanaimo at 8 a.m., noon, and 4 p.m. Return trips will be made three-quarters of an hour later.

Cadets Win Awards

NANAIMO—Michael Whalen and Bonnie Sebastian were named cadet and wrenette of the year at the naval cadet annual inspection Sunday.

Other award winners were Shirley Fulton, best first year wrenette; Rae Gilla, best attendance among the wrenettes; David Zolmer, best first year cadet; Donald Martin, best attendance, and Michael Whalen, best for ship building.

Inspecting officer was Cmdr. W. H. I. Atkinson, commanding officer of HMCS Ventura naval academy in Victoria.

He said the corps was well turned out and above average.

Ladysmith Acquiring Waterfront

By KLAUS MUENTER

LADYSMITH—Town council here decided Monday night to secure waterfront property and accepted an offer from Weldwood of Canada Ltd. for almost 15 acres at Transfer Beach.

The property will cost $50,000 and this will be paid over five years.

Mayor Kay Grouhel said "this is a very big step ahead in the development of Ladysmith waterfront. The town planner will have a little more than just four acres to plan as a waterfront park."

TOWN PROJECT

The mayor referred to four acres at Transfer Beach which has been bought from Pacific Logging Ltd. Development of the four acres was chosen recently as this town's centennial project.

The town has made an agreement of sale with the Weldwood company under certain conditions.

These are:

- Payment is to be made in five installments of $10,000.
- First payment will be made in January, 1967.
- Interest will be at 7 per cent a year.
- Purchaser may pay off balance anytime.
- Taxes to be adjusted as from July, 1966.

Government Plans Newcastle Docks

NANAIMO — The Department of Recreation and Conservation plans to install mooring facilities for 50 boats at Echo Bay on Newcastle Island.

Monday night, Nanaimo Civic Properties and Recreation Commission chairman Bill McGregor made the announcement after meeting with Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan last Tuesday.

Mr. McGregor said more trails and campsites are planned if the need arises on the 750-acre island.

DEVELOPMENT
"They did say it would be developed up to the amount it is used added Mr. McGregor."

Mr. McGregor and his delegation had proposed to the minister the commission be allowed to administer the island on a three-year trial basis but this was turned down.

City council will be asked to turn over a piece of property at the north end of Bowen Park to the commission.

This was done at the urging of Dave Nichol, who maintained the property is big enough for a badly-needed playing field suitable for two ball diamonds.

Three National Parks and Recreation Association of America certificates were presented to Mrs. John Williams for organizing refreshments at the recreation and friendship club for the past ten years; to Joe Bertram for his work with Upper Island Music Festival; and to the Nanaimo Track and Field Club.

The commission turned down a request from Departure Bay for financial assistance with providing a lifeguard at the area's beach.

In other council business it was decided to inform W. M. Ingram at Nanaimo that Ladysmith will not be able to supply water to Evening Cove and Sibley Bay.

NOT AVAILABLE

Mr. Ingram said "a U.S. group is tentatively interested in a major development on our property at Evening Cove and Sibley Bay. One of the problems that has to be solved before they can consider it further is a fresh water supply."

Council will reply to Mr. Ingram's letter saying fresh water is not available.

Big Book List To Cover Island

NANAIMO — A program to provide every branch of the Vancouver Island Regional Library with lists of books available in the entire region will start in the near future.

Regional Librarian Fred White, Nanaimo, said the go-ahead was given at a directors' meeting at Qualicum on Saturday.

THREE MONTHS

The project will take about three months to complete and cost $14,000 to initiate. Yearly maintenance of the system will be about $3,000.

Mr. White said the region's entire holdings will be catalogued on tape by author, title and subject.

PUNCH MACHINES

The work will be done on IBM key punch machines, and he expects to hire three machines and operators.

Every quarter books purchased during the previous three months will be brought up to date through additions and deletions.

DOBBYN HONORED

At the present time only through a conventional card index system at library headquarters in Nanaimo is any record kept of the books on the island.

The Vancouver Island Regional Library administers all libraries on the island apart from the Victoria public library.

At Saturday's meeting the board decided to recognize the many years of service of its chairman, Councilor Mrs. Elaine Dobbyn, North Cowichan, by naming the Chemainus Library after her.

Seven Snatched from Monoxide Deaths

Family 'Absolutely Helpless' After Fumes Strike in Boat

Members of the Dueck family of Knapp Island, north of Sidney, are heroes of the Fevang family of Victoria, whose seven members narrowly escaped death from carbon monoxide poisoning Sunday.

"If they hadn't been home when we got to their dock, we wouldn't be here now," said Carson Fevang, 4687 Cordova Bay, who, with six other members of the family, was overcome by the fumes during a boat trip.

Mrs. Sigurd Fevang, who fell into a coma in the boat, was still in only fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital late Monday. Their children, Ben, 15, and Michael, 12, are still woozy and missed school Monday.

Mrs. Carson Fevang's brother, George Bennett, 42, and Sigurd Fevang, 676 Genevieve, Carson's brother, are also recovering at home.

When the group sought help at Knapp Island, only Bennett still remained capable of handling the boat. He passed out with the rest as the boat reached the Dueck dock.

Peter Dueck, 21, immediately administered artificial respiration to Mrs. Fevang, who had stopped breathing, Mr. Fevang said.

Another Dueck called RCMP, who rushed a doctor to the island.

"We were absolutely helpless," said Mr. Fevang. "If they hadn't been there, we wouldn't be here."

The group left Ganges, Salt Spring Island, about 5:30 p.m. for the hour-and-a-half trip to Canoe Cove, in Carson's 18-foot inboard cruiser.

They were at Ferguson Point, about half way, when the gas poisoning effects first became evident. The two children became violently ill.

Then, one by one, the others began to be overcome.

Mrs. Fevang fell into a coma on the floor of the boat, but by that time no one was capable of helping her. They suffered from nausea, partial paralysis of limbs, and lack of co-ordination. Speech became incoherent.

Finally, only Mr. Bennett was capable of handling the boat.

Fighting nausea and the fatal sleep-inducing effect of the poison gas, he brought the boat into a Knapp Island dock, and passed out.

"We were all completely useless by then," Sigurd Fevang said.

"I wasn't even thinking clearly enough to get the name of the man who gave my wife artificial respiration. He worked on her for about an hour."

An ambulance met the sick and worried crew at Canoe Cove and rushed Mrs. Fevang to hospital.

Mr. Fevang said he believes the exhaust smoke containing

Chamber President Blasts Committee

PARKSVILLE — Chamber of Commerce president here Anton Kryuyt who is himself a member of the Parksville Qualicum College Advisory Committee states that he feels the committee has completely failed in its purpose and responsibility.

In a prepared statement Mr. Kryuyt said "to comment on the numerous reports pertaining to the Vancouver Island Regional College, particularly from the Alberni Valley I can only say that any effort by any group to bring the college to the Parksville Qualicum area meets the wholehearted support of the Parksville chamber."

The Parksville municipal council offered a free 150 acre site to UBC president Dr. Macdonald upon release of his report some years ago. This offer was confirmed on release of the Dr. Marsh report and still stands.

This offer is an extremely generous one and deserves careful consideration. The site has highway, railway and river frontage and is close to public beach access. And most important is within easy commuting distance from Nanaimo and the Alberni, the major population centres of central Vancouver Island.

Parksville itself is only about two miles from the site, already has all the professional and business services that could possibly be required. Retail outlets of every kind are available in most cases on modern premises. Parksville is ideally situated to the residential requirements of faculty and staff members.

In addition an abundance of temporary residential possibilities in the off tourist season September to June.

He continued "I deeply regret the ineffectiveness of the Parksville Qualicum College Advisory Committee of which I am a member. I would not hesitate to term it an almost complete failure in its purpose and responsibilities. Perhaps this is due to the fact that the committee is too heavy with school board members and staff who have had their own local serious problems in the last few months," added Mr. Kryuyt.

In conclusion Mr. Kryuyt said "to return to the future college site, I would suggest that a shift northward of only 10 miles from the tentative suggestion by Dr. Marsh in no way detracts from the findings or recommendations in the Marsh Report."

"Such a shift does however meet the requirements of a major centre of industry and population, the Alberni Valley. In fact such a shift may mean the difference between a regional college within a reasonable time or no college at all."

The Parksville Qualicum College Advisory Committee was formed some time ago to study the regional college situation and propose a suitable site.

Rezoning Plan Protested

NANAIMO — Disgruntled residents in Departure Bay will form a delegation to see the minister of municipal affairs to voice opposition to proposed commercial zoning on Bay Street.

More than 30 residents gathered at the district's fire hall where the decision to make the trip to Victoria was made.

Bob Kelly, chairman of the Departure Bay Improvement District, explained the trustees have no jurisdiction over the matter. "We turned the meeting over to the people who then formed the committee," he added.

"All they can do is to go to Victoria and speak their minds as individuals," he said.

Local architect James White has made application to rezone one residential lot on Bay to commercial use so that he can construct an office.

Children Awarded Prizes In Water Safety Contest

COURTENAY — First prize winners from the 140 boys and girls who entered the annual Courtenay Recreation Association water safety poster contest were presented with their prizes at a gala show at the Courtenay Pool.

In the competition, children from the six to eight years section colored their posters on cardboard while the posters by the nine to 16 year group are in waterproof paint on plywood. The wooden posters will be on display throughout the summer on the parking lot fence at Lewis Park in Courtenay.

Mayor Has to Decline Invitation

Mayor Pete Maffeo got his invitation to Kamloops Overlander Days delivered in person by Michele Fraser, 3, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fraser of Kamloops. The Fraser family are former residents of Honey-moon Bay. Mayor Maffeo said he would like to go and collect a "golden stetson award" but his health will not permit the trip. — (Agnes Flett)

Courtenay Studies Boundary Changes

COURTENAY — Boundary changes in the city of Courtenay were discussed at city council.

A special committee set up recently to study the advisability of such changes reported making progress in the study.

MAJOR EXTENSION

Mayor George Hobson, a member of the special committee, told aldermen the view which is held at present is, "If we are going to extend our boundaries, then let's extend boundaries."

The statement came in reply to a question whether the extensions are to be considered would be on a large, or small scale.

AREA WANTED IN

Committee members are Mayor Hobson, Gordon Wagner, chairman of advisory planning; Bob Waugh, planning officer; Bill Moore, clerk-administrator. The subject came under discussion at the most recent meeting when another request was received from an area to be incorporated in the city.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Jalopy Meeting Most Successful

COURTENAY — Recent jalopy race meeting at the Oyster River Track — the third held since the event was initiated last month — proved to be the most successful staged thus far with the previous best attendance and entry figures being bettered as well as the lap record broken.

An estimated 2,000 people turned out at the track where facilities are still rapidly being improved, this, and the increased entry — 24 cars took part, serve to show the sports rapid gain in popularity.

The crowd was treated to some really fast driving. Vic Woods of Courtenay beat the old lap record by a fraction of a second with a time of 27 seconds and Bill Carney lowered the time even further to 24.9 seconds.

One of the special features was a "Powder-Puff" event which attracted a high entry of 15 women. In addition, all 15 completed the race which was won by Carol Streton of Courtenay.

Full results of last meet:

● Trophy Dash — Mike Craddock, Quadra Island; Bill Carney 2nd.

● First Heat — N. Hannen, Campbell River.

● Second Heat — Don Macartney, Willow Point.

● Third Heat — Bob Bissen-den, Victoria.

Sit Downs Teach-Ins Seem Out

COURTENAY — Are the peace marchers back in Courtenay appears to be the question of the day?

Last year when Peter Light and company left after a summer of sit downs, teach-ins and court appearances, they promised to return this spring stronger than ever. They also stated literature would be sent out during the winter, prepared by two field workers who were to remain in the Comox Valley.

Since then little if anything has been heard of the group, who proved to be nothing more than a slight annoyance last year.

This week however strange faces appeared in Courtenay dressed in the typical garb of the marchers. Reliable reports state at least nine living in the Happy Valley area.

The same report says plans are being made for a sit down July 1 weekend.

An RCAF official when questioned said a sit down probably would not cause any more concern than last year and those were termed at the time as a "fizzle instead of a bomb."

Can a gentleman find happiness with Old Style Beer?

A very important question. Better consider it slowly and thoughtfully — over a glass of Old Style. While you're meditating, note the flavour. Bold, forthright. Yet there's nothing rough about it, is there? On the contrary, natural aging has made it mellow and mature. Gentle, in fact. That's it! Suddenly, the answer is clear and you realize... you're happy. This calls for another Old Style!

Love Rides Ocean

LONDON (CP) — A marriage proposal from a bashful Canadian that floated across the Atlantic on his way to the United States has been accepted nearly a year after it was sent, says the British housewife who played the role of cupid.

Alan Ruffman, a student at Dalhousie University in Halifax, too shy to pop the question directly, put his proposal in a rum bottle and dropped it from a ship in Hudson Bay.

Eleven months later Elizabeth Singleton, wife of a Birmingham, England, architect, found it on the coast of Cornwall.

She sent it on to its destination — Linda Christiansen, a student at Columbia University in New York.

Monday Mrs. Singleton got letters from Alan and Linda saying they are going to be married.

"How wonderful to find people so romantic," she said. "It has been very exciting playing cupid."

Linda wrote: "I had the surprise of my life when I read your letter and Alan's proposal. I wired to say yes and flew 500 miles to join him."

Alan wrote: "I was studying the effects of earthquakes during tests on board ship when I dropped the message overboard on June 26, 1965."

"I told Linda I tossed a bottle into the sea last summer. But I kept the message to myself."

CHICAGO (AP) — A policeman was hit by a brick and two Puerto Ricans were shot Monday night as more than 1,000 persons ran through the littered streets of a Puerto Rican neighborhood, throwing home-made bombs and shattering windows.

Three hospitals said injured persons had been admitted. The injured policemen and the two who were shot were reported in good condition.

Police arrested jeering bystanders who refused to heed directions, and fired warning shots.

More than 150 helmeted policemen ordered businesses closed in the northwest side neighborhood, where violence erupted Sunday when a Puerto Rican youth was shot by a policeman.

The vandalism and shooting Monday night occurred about eight blocks from Sunday night's disturbances, in which

Killer Storm Slams Colony

HONG KONG (Reuters) — A big relief effort was mounted Monday after a weekend of floods and landslides in this British colony claimed at least 44 lives.

Broken families scrambled in the mud and rocks for some sign of the dozens of missing in the worst natural catastrophe to hit the colony in years.

Swollen torrents bursting from their valley beds by torrential rains have buried and battered the frail shanties that house many of Hong Kong's densely-packed 4,000,000 people.

A woman returned to her family's hillside hut to find only a heap of slimy rock. Firemen dug out her husband's body, but her children were gone.

It still was raining Monday, with forecasters predicting more to come. Soil and rock loosened by the weekend downpour were poised for new landslides.

Vegetable prices soared as blocked routes and crop damage cut supplies.

Concessions Won By Ferry Workers

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

B.C. ferry workers Monday won numerous concessions about a summer shift schedule dispute, when the provincial cabinet accepted all but one of the proposals brought in by a special labor-management committee.

However, the 1966 schedule which sparked the dispute—12 days on and three days off—will remain unchanged, as recommended earlier by the Civil Service Commission.

A ferry spokesman said the cabinet decision means that up to 44 more people will be hired as stewards and cooks' helpers on the two main routes between Vancouver Island and the B.C. Mainland.

Approved By Cabinet

The agreement was reached during a series of bargaining sessions and approved by a cabinet sub-committee before receiving executive approval. It will be submitted to crews at meetings today, Wednesday and Thursday.

It provides that: Permanent personnel who stay through the summer schedule are to receive a 10-per-cent bonus of their basic wage for the summer, on the last payday in September.

The winter schedule is to be revised so that the workers will have five days on and two days off instead of 10 days on and four days off, as previously provided.

Wages Shared

An additional steward and cook's helper are to be hired for each shift on the two big runs between the Island and the Mainland.

Also, if a ferry sails short-handed in any department, the wages of the missing people are to be paid pro rata to the other members of that department.

Not given formal cabinet approval was a clause saying recognition should be granted for an organization which would represent the ferry workers in future negotiations.

Already Provided

Attorney-General Bonner, chairman of the cabinet sub-committee, said this was already provided for in the Civil Service Act.

"It is further noted that Item 9, being a recommendation outside this committee's terms of reference is, nevertheless, a matter provided for in the Civil Service Act. It is accordingly received for such operation as it may have under statute."

Although cabinet agreed to pay a 10-per-cent bonus, the ferry workers will still receive a period of 21 days off during the winter season to compensate for the imbalance in the summer shift schedule, as agreed earlier.

"We're happy to have brought about such a radical change in our conditions," Norman Thorner, one of the employees' two representatives, said Monday night. "Our prime purpose was a solution, not a strike. I think this is a hell of a good solution."

IWA Negotiations Come to Halt

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) announced Monday that negotiations with a coast forest companies have "ended" and no further talks are expected.

The union, bargaining for its 26,000 coast members, said industrial inquiry commissioner Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz would continue his efforts, however.

"Proposals for settlement of the dispute as prepared by the commissioner will be submitted to a membership referendum vote by secret ballot at the earliest possible date," the IWA said in a brief announcement.

It pledged, however, that despite strike notices already served on the companies there would be no strike before the judge submits his recommendations.

The IWA announced Saturday that it had served 48-hour strike notice on the companies. Sunday night Mr. Justice Nemetz said he was making "reasonable progress" in his talks with both sides.

The dispute involves wages. The union wants a 50-cent hourly increase on the present basic of $2.35. The company has sought a contract that would effectively outlaw wildcat strikes.

Dock Agreement Won by Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiators for Quebec's 4,250 striking longshoremen and their employers reached agreement late Monday on a two-year contract involving a wage increase of 80 cents per hour.

The dockworkers, whose walkout has crippled shipping on the St. Lawrence River since May 9, also won a guarantee that work gangs will not be reduced for the duration of the contract.

The agreement was announced by Prime Minister Pearson at 11:14 p.m. PDT after he mediated the labor dispute in late - night talks lasting 2 1/2 hours.

Negotiators on both sides agreed to recommend ratification and they expressed confidence that this will be done.

Aide To Join Airline Talks

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy minister of labor, will join negotiations between Air Canada and the sales employees association here today in an attempt to avert a strike set for Wednesday.

Never Feigned

Jury took 10 minutes Monday to find Jack Ruby, 35, legally sane, shortly after he took stand to announce: "Never at any time have I tried to make anyone believe that I was of unsound mind. "If, however, he indicates in any manner and at any stage of the questioning process that he wishes to consult with an attorney before speaking, there can be no questioning," the chief justice declared.

"Likewise if the individual is alone and indicates in any manner that he does not wish to be interrogated, the police may not question him."
